Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate remained at 5 per cent in April despite one of the strongest economic expansions in history, the Labor Department's monthly report on jobs showed Friday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) noted that the jobs situation has changed little since late last fall, indicating the jobless rate may be hard to move below its current level.

But Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was optimistic. He said he foresees a further increase in employment and a decline in the jobless rate in the months ahead.

The administration has predicted that this year's strong economic expansion will force the jobless rate down to the neighborhood of 4.5 per cent by the end of the year. But it has also said that the booming economy should slow down after the middle of the year, perhaps creating fewer jobs.

The BLS said total employment was unchanged at 83.9 million jobs on a seasonally adjusted basis in April, after large increases in the previous two months.

The number of people out of work remained at 4.4 million, about the same level that has prevailed since last November.

The report said that the jobless rate of adult men was 3.4 per cent and for adult women, 4.7 per cent. Focusing on another big problem, the BLS said the unemployment rate for teenagers increased from 14.2 per cent to 15.4 per cent.

For Vietnam veterans aged 20 to 29, there was also no change in the job picture. Their unemployment rate remained at 6.2 per cent, the eighth straight month that their rate has not been much different from the rate for non-veterans.

But for young Vietnam war veterans, aged 20 to 24, the jobless rate was 9.1 per cent, about the same as in March.

In another report, the BLS said that worker productivity, or output per man-hour, increased substantially during the first three months of the year. The rise was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.7 per cent, the same increase that occurred in the last three months of 1972.

Lebanon—Fight

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — New fighting between army troops and Palestinian guerrillas erupted in two areas of Lebanon late Friday, marring an uneasy cease-fire that had ended two days of heavy fighting and claimed at least 87 lives.

Guerrilla broadcasts from Cairo charged Lebanese artillery and air force jets shelled and strafed their positions near the villages of Aiba and Rachaya Foukhar.

Aiba is near the Syrian border across which Palestinian reinforcements stormed late Thursday at the height of the fighting in the capital. Rachaya Foukhar is in the southeast corner of the country near the Israeli border.

Defense Minister Fuad Ghosn said the fighting stopped after four hours, and a joint truce team went to the area.

In and around the capital a cease-fire held up from dawn to dusk without incident, as guerrillas and authorities sought a new formula for coexistence.

Both sides issued conciliatory statements, replacing the sounds of war—screaming jets, the boom of tank cannons and chattering small arms fire that have reverberated in and around Beirut since Wednesday.

But a curfew, lifted only for a two-hour period in the morning and a three-hour period just before sunset, remained in effect.

Before the new fighting broke out near the Syrian border, reports from eastern Lebanon said a 5,000-man force from the Palestine Liberation Army that entered the country late Thursday had withdrawn to positions on the border.

Guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat promised Lebanese authorities the troops would return to their base Friday night. Technically he is in charge of the liberation army, a regular force formed in 1964. In fact, it is controlled by Syria.

A preliminary police count of civilian dead totaled 16.

POW Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — A huge orange and yellow striped tent will start going up on the White House lawn next week for the biggest dinner ever held there, a presidential salute to the Vietnam prisoners of war and their wives.

The White House, the State Department and the Pentagon are joining in the elaborate planning for the May 28 affair.

Some 1,200 guests are expected, including the 587 returned POWs and their wives as well as prominent government officials, including chief peace negotiator Henry A. Kissinger.

"The President wants it to be the best," said press secretary Helen Smith.

The fare is to be similar to that usually served at the much smaller formal State dinners.

White House chef Henry Haller and maitre d' John Ficklin are busy recruiting extra staff and waiters, who will have to get security clearances.

The White House combed Washington to get the biggest tent available. It is 100 by 180 feet and will stretch across the grounds in front of the fountain on the South Lawn.

Special trucks, some refrigerated, to ease the serving of the food outdoors, are expected to be supplied by the Defense Department.

Mrs. Smith said there will be "quite a large cast" of entertainers, all of whom have volunteered their time and talents at one time or another in Vietnam. Master of ceremonies will be Bob Hope, who has made annual Christmas trips to Vietnam.

Far-Flung Strands Come Together Watergate Plot Thickens

Ellsberg

LOS ANGELES (AP) — E. Howard Hunt told the Watergate grand jury that a White House aide ordered the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office and that the Central Intelligence Agency provided a camera and disguises for the burglars, testimony released by the Pentagon papers trial judge revealed Friday.

Hunt told the grand jury that Egil Krogh, then an assistant to presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman, approved the burglary and handed over money for the operation to G. Gordon Liddy, like Hunt, is a convicted Watergate conspirator.

Hunt said that two Cubans were hired to break into the psychiatrist's office—including one who was arrested in the Watergate break-in at Democratic National headquarters in the Watergate complex.

However, he said that when the Cubans entered the office of Dr. Lewis Fielding on Sept. 3, 1971, they could find no files pertaining to Ellsberg in Fielding's file cabinets or desks.

When the burglary failed to turn up anything, the group considered breaking into the psychiatrist's home but decided not to, Hunt told the grand jury. However, Hunt said he later asked the CIA's "psychiatric unit" to prepare a psychiatric profile of Ellsberg. He said this special section of the CIA, headed by Dr. Bernard Malloy, did provide a report in response, but he did not specify its contents.

Hunt told a cloak-and-dagger tale of plans for the burglary which included nighttime meetings in so-called "safe" houses in Washington. At those houses, (Turn To Page Seven) (See "Ellsberg")

Segretti

WASHINGTON (AP) — A paid White House agent, Donald H. Segretti, was indicted Friday as the author of phony smear letters apparently intended to discredit Sen. Edmund S. Muskie in the Florida Democratic primary last year.

The indictment, by a federal grand jury in Orlando, Fla., stems in part from investigations into last year's Watergate wiretapping and an alleged campaign of Republican political sabotage.

The Watergate prosecutors met Friday in Washington with Egil "Bud" Krogh, a former White House aide who hired G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt to investigate publication of the Pentagon Papers.

And the Senate's special committee on the Watergate affair quizzed two former presidential aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman. Neither would tell newsmen what was said. Both testified before the grand jury Thursday.

The Florida indictment charges that Segretti illegally failed to identify the true authors of letters mailed to thousands of Florida voters three days before last year's March 14 primary.

The letters, printed on Citizens for Muskie stationery, and purporting to be from his staff, accused two campaign rivals of improper sexual conduct.

Specifically, the letters said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., had been involved in an automobile accident in 1967 with a "known call girl" in his car.

And they said that Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., had fathered an illegitimate daughter in 1929, and in the 1950s was twice arrested "as a homosexual." (Turn To Page Seven) (See "Segretti")

Kissinger Flies To Moscow To Prepare Way For Summit

MOSCOW (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger flew into Moscow on Friday to assess Soviet-American relations with General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and to devise an agenda for the Kremlin chief's trip to the United States next month.

Before his arrival a group of Soviet Jews appealed to him in an open letter for help in emigrating to Israel.

Upon arrival, the White House adviser was escorted to Zavidovo, the country retreat of the Soviet leadership, where he was to confer with Brezhnev and his counselors.

In addition to a program for the second summit between Brezhnev and President Nixon in Washington, Kissinger and the Communist party head were expected to discuss further strategic arms limits, mutual force reductions in Europe, and the direction of bilateral trade and economic cooperation.

Soviet Jews hoped Kissinger would raise the issue of Russia's limitations on Jews who want to emigrate to Israel.

Moscow Jews demonstrated Friday with a hand-lettered placard in front of Izvestia, complaining that the government newspaper "refuses to publish that we are prevented from going to Israel."

Eight Jews from the Ukrainian city of Kharkov appealed to Kissinger in an open letter to help them get visas for Israel and end a "completely intolerable" situation for them.

It was understood Kissinger would spend the weekend at Zavidovo, closeted with Brezhnev. Sources said it was possible he would make a day trip to Leningrad Monday and return for a concluding round of discussions before he left Wednesday for London.

Haig Named Interim Chief Of Nixon Staff

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (AP) — Moving to reshape a personal staff shaken by the Watergate scandal, President Nixon named Army Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. Friday as interim successor to resigned White House Chief of Staff H. R. (Bob) Haldeman.

Haig, who built a reputation as a trusted troubleshooter on Henry A. Kissinger's top staff, already had moved into Haldeman's office and assumed most of his duties.

The Florida White House announcement of his appointment as a presidential assistant came amid these other developments:

—Nixon told his past and present staff members to invoke executive privilege when questioned by Watergate investigators about conversations with the President, conversations among themselves involving communication with the President, or about presidential papers.

—The White House singled out David Packard, multimillionaire and former Pentagon official, as the leading candidate for nomination to succeed Elliot Richardson as defense secretary. Richardson was nominated this week to succeed Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst.

—The President, working in his bayside office, charted a thorough overhaul of White House staff operations. Indications were that the changes would be announced in the near future.

The resignations of Haldeman and chief domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman on Monday left gaping holes in the White House top command. They quit amid published charges they were involved in the Watergate bugging conspiracy and subsequent cover-up—charges they have denied.

Haig, who played a key role in the Vietnam cease-fire negotiations and undertook a dozen foreign fact-finding missions for Nixon, has been Army vice chief of staff since January. He served for four years on Kissinger's National Security Council staff.

His appointment as a presidential assistant is permanent, but press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said his assignment to handle Haldeman's former duties is an interim move until Nixon decides how to reshape White House operations.

Haig, 48, will remain on active military duty and continue to receive his $38,000 annual base pay as a four-star general. Haldeman, whose salary was $42,500, will clean out his office this weekend and go off the White House payroll soon, a spokesman said.

New U.S. Export Field Is Medical

Foreign doctors have long been a familiar sight in American hospitals. Most Latin American physicians, for example, receive advanced training or serve internships in the United States or Europe, where they become familiar with modern medical technology.

The problem, notes Dr. Irving Gray, a Georgetown University biology professor, is that this same technology is not available to them when they return to their home countries. The health support systems of the developing nations have not kept up with the development of their physicians.

Thus a little over two years ago, Gray and a group of other U.S. scientists formed a firm called Omni Research, Inc.

Omni has submitted a proposal to the Puerto Rican government to set up a medical history data bank system throughout the island. Negotiations are also underway with Honduras to establish a central laboratory in Tegucigalpa.

"One of the services we are trying to sell these countries," says Gray,

"is to go in and set up a lab for them, train their people and run it for a reasonable period. Then it would be their lab."

More and more U.S. companies are beginning to realize that the field of medicine offers an opportunity not only to aid developing countries but to help counter the U.S. trade deficit by exporting something the United States still does best—high technology.

In fact, the market potential outside the United States for high-technology equipment is three to four times as great as in North America, says Jim Whidden, a divisional president of Electro-Nucleonics, Inc., of Bethesda, Md., a leader in the medical and scientific laboratory field.

Two of this company's most important products are a highly sophisticated centrifuge and a computerized blood analysis system called Gemsac. The latter is one of about 50 high-technology blood analysis systems, most of them American, seeking customers in this new and burgeoning world market.

How Now About Mao?

Maoist China, which once imprisoned or expelled missionaries, has set some sort of record for moral rehabilitation.

As a result of China's entry into the United Nations and the resumption of relations between Peking and Washington, there is now hope in Western missionary circles of renewing contact with Chinese Christians. A recent article in the bulletin of the Sacred Congregation for the Evangelization of the Peoples, the Vatican's missionary department, is seen as a move toward this goal.

Although Maoism is atheistic and prejudiced against Christianity, it is also, said the article, "a moral socialism of thought and conduct" reflecting Christian values and is in some ways similar to the system of social thought of Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul VI.

Maoist China, it held, "is devoted to a mystique of disinterested work for others, to inspiration by justice, to exaltation of simple and frugal life, to rehabilitation of the rural masses and to a mixing of social classes."

At the rate Maoism is making a comeback, one hesitates to contemplate what may happen when Mao Tse-tung dies—and on the third day...

Communication

To The Editor:

The Art Association of Jacksonville is commemorating the 100th anniversary of its founding and proudly joins those other illustrious institutions in Jacksonville which have passed the century mark.

The celebration was splendidly launched with the impressive and beautiful Centennial Ball of April 28. Official observance will continue through the 1973-74 Season, with many special events to be presented.

The Art Association cordially invites the public to join in all phases of its Centennial Celebration. Realizing that public acceptance and support of its many activities are responsible for reaching this milestone, the Art Association wishes to express appreciation to the people of this community.

Not only are we indebted to those hundreds of people who so willingly volunteer their services in the presentation of the Beaux Arts Ball each year, but to countless others who assist in a variety of ways.

It is most heartening to enter our "Second Century" with the knowledge that we hold a position of respect and esteem in the community and that our contribution merits such loyal support.

We are grateful to the Jacksonville Journal Courier for its cooperation in publicizing our many activities. Our gratitude to this newspaper indeed goes way back, for the Jacksonville Journal of December 4, 1873, carried a news article pertaining to an organizational meeting of the Art Association.

To all our friends we say, with great humility, thank you for giving us encouragement in the past and confidence in the future.

Watergate May Help Congress Reclaim Powers

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In its struggle to reclaim powers from the White House, Congress may have unwitting and ironic allies in the men who created and tried to hide the Watergate scandal.

For the trauma of Watergate could become a pivotal point in the long controversy over presidential and congressional prerogatives.

That issue was drawn clearly as Nixon's second term began amid disputes over the impoundment of funds, the dismantling of programs approved by Congress, and the power to make war.

In each case, the White House took charge while congressional critics protested. Those matters have been submerged now in the Watergate, with continuing disclosures and charges of 1972 campaign wrongdoing.

But the broader questions will recur, and when they do, it will be far more difficult for a shaken administration to argue that disputed powers should be gathered to the President and his top aides.

And it will be impossible for them to argue, as John D. Ehrlichman did earlier this year, that one-man rule is proper and necessary.

Hours after Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman resigned as two of his top aides, Nixon told the nation Monday night that Watergate demonstrates the operation, not the bankruptcy, of the American political system.

"It was the system that has brought the facts to light and that will bring those guilty to justice," the President said.

But an operating system created by the President and his aides permitted Watergate to happen and, by Nixon's account, to be shielded from him for nine months.

That was a system long on presidential and staff authority, short on congressional and Cabinet consultation. Politically, as the President reported, it was a system that delegated authority for his 1972 campaign.

Nixon has spoken repeatedly of dispersing power from "bureaucrats in Washington," and returning it to the people.

"The concentration of power can get to be a dangerous habit," the President said last Oct. 21. "Government officials who get power over others tend to want to keep it. And the more power they get, the more they want."

He was talking about spreading authority to state and local governments, and thus to the people.

But that judgment obviously has a broader application.

And, in the federal government, the trend throughout the Nixon administration has been toward gathering power in the White House and its senior staff.

Watergate is almost certain to change that.

Aid To Hanoi Not Like Post W.W. II

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Those who compare aid for North Vietnam with assistance for Germany and Japan after World War II have missed the point.

In Tokyo and Berlin, the old administrations had collapsed. The irrational men who had caused so much pain and suffering by aggression were in large measure eliminated from posts of power and influence. We demanded and received a reorganization of the systems of government in ways intended to give democracy a fighting chance in those nations.

When American aid was begun, U.S. troops and U.S. advisers were in place in both Japan and West Germany.

Washington thus had the ability and the power to make certain that democratic forms were in fact being instituted, that those wartime leaders most responsible for aggression were being removed and that the aid money was indeed being used in ways which would strengthen the voice of the people in government—a voice which we confidently expected would be for moderation and for nonaggression.

That is, we were buying hope. We were successful to a degree no one could have imagined at that time. Japan and West Germany today are peaceful powers. Their governments stand up well in any comparison with other nations throughout the world.

Hanoi is a different case. The men who planned the invasion of South Vietnam are still in power and intend to remain. They have not given up their aggressive aims—and make no pretense on this point. They are even now moving troops and war supplies south.

We will have no power either to insure government reforms or to oversee how our donated funds are used. No one pretends these monies will go to strengthen democratic institutions or to increase the voice of the people in their government.

The proposed aid to Hanoi bluntly is a bribe, intended to induce North Vietnam's leaders to halt their aggression, at least temporarily.

No one in a post of influence this reporter has talked to believes assistance to Hanoi will change that government's attitudes, its objectives or its totalitarian rule.

No one believes Hanoi has given up on conquering South Vietnam by one type of force or another.

It is as though we were to say to a violent man, "We will give you a subsidy of so many dollars a week so long as you are not caught and convicted of seriously assaulting other people."

Now this may be a useful device; but let us look frankly and honestly at what we are doing:

We are building the strength of a nation vowing to combat the United States, insisting on its right to conquer its neighbors, led by men who have consistently refused to honor the treaties they sign.

Ann Landers:

No Response At All Most Devastating

Dear Ann Landers: Since a great many people unload their pet peeves on you I think I'll give you mine.

What should I say to people who telephone me and start off on the attack because they had been trying to get my line for awhile and it was busy? Usually it goes something like this: "I've been trying to reach you for an hour..." Then some snide remark about how gabby I am, etc.

What bothers me is that I allow myself to be put on the defensive, when it is really none of their business how long I talk. I sometimes find myself apologizing and even telling the cuds the nature of the call. I know this is stupid and I hate myself for it.

Will you please supply me with a good put-down? — ma Bell's Love Child

Dear Love Child: Try silence. Just sixty seconds of dead air. It can be very effective. Especially when you come back with a subject completely unrelated to the comment. Funny, people are always asking what to say to put someone's nose back in joint when the most devastating response can be no response at all.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are in our late 40s and we have always had a good relationship. We enjoy each other's company, both in and out of the bedroom.

We looked forward to the day when we would be free of the responsibilities of raising children, so we could travel and be "honeymooners" again. Well, now that time is here I am deeply disappointed. Our sex life has suddenly dwindled down to nothing. And I do mean nothing.

About six months ago I began to think perhaps he was seeing someone else, but now I'm sure he is completely faithful and I'm ashamed of myself for having thought otherwise.

Last year he began to take medication for high blood pressure. Is there any possibility that the medication is interfering with his ability to function sexually? Please check with your medical authorities and let me know. Thanks Ann. — The Big Q

Dear Q: There is indeed a possibility that the hypertension medication is responsible for your husband's impotence. He should discuss this with his doctor, so he will have a good understanding of what has happened to him — and why — and in turn explain it to you.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a married homosexual (male) but have not been involved in any homosexual activity since my marriage. My wife does not have the faintest idea of the conflicts I am going through. The desire for a male friend is becoming overwhelming. I want desperately to keep my marriage intact. The anguish and torture is more than I can bear.

We live in a small town where there are no psychiatrists. Time off from my job to go to the nearest city (150 miles away) is out of the question. Can you suggest anything? There is no one else I can trust or turn to. — Desperate in N. Carolina

Dear N.C.: You must discuss this problem with a doctor, clergyman or counselor — someone who can serve as a safety valve. Select the most compassionate, and get going.

Thoughts

"He who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will supply and multiply your resources and increase the harvest of your righteousness. You will be enriched in every way for great generosity, which through us will produce thanksgiving to God;—II Cor. 9:10, 11.

Generosity during life is a very different thing from generosity in the hour of death; one proceeds from genuine liberality and benevolence, the other from pride or fear.—Horace Mann, American educator.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Passenger fatalities and injuries from train accidents showed a significant decrease during the first half of 1972, with no such fatalities in a train accident. This was the first time since 1966 that no passengers died, while in the same period there were 79 fewer injuries than the 315 in 1971. The World Almanac says. Grade-crossing fatalities dropped from 682 to 625 over the 6 month period.

Bike-a-thon To Start Sunday

Seven members of the Jacksonville Easy Riders Bicycle Club were among the approximately three hundred riders starting from Crystal Lake Park in Urbana on the annual Prairie Spring Century Ride on April 29. Because of the strong wind, many participants were unable to complete the hundred mile ride, which included a tour of the Sangamon River Valley, the McLean County Conservation Area, and Lake of the Woods with its covered bridge.

The seven from Jacksonville, who all completed the one hundred miles in twelve hours or less, were Alvin Marshall, David Massey, Mrs. Fred McCollough, Bruce McCollough, Lynn McCollough, and Dr. and Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach. Bruce completed the ride in nine and a half hours.

The Bike-a-thon, scheduled by the Easy Riders and the Sherwood Eddy YMCA for Sunday, May 6, arousing great interest. Many adults and young people are busy signing up sponsors for the event. Sponsors agree to pay anywhere from 5 cents up per mile ridden by the participants. The route is twelve miles, but each rider may choose his own speed and distance. All money will go to the Morgan County United Fund. Prizes for the longest lists of sponsors and largest amounts of money turned in, for both adults and youngsters, will be donated by the Easy Riders. A 50 cents gift certificate from MacDonald's Restaurant will be awarded to each person turning in money at the YMCA or the United Fund Office.

The ride is scheduled for 1:30 to 5:30 Sunday afternoon. Sheets for signing up sponsors are available at the YMCA, the Village Cycle Shop, and at all schools and colleges.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, MAY 5—Born today, you are a warmhearted, generous individual with a loving nature and a peaceful, outgoing disposition. You women born today are especially understanding of people whose ambitions are extremely large. For this reason, you would make excellent partners—business or marriage—for men whose work comes first, men who want more than anything else in the world to reach the top of their professions. You men, on the other hand, are not very sympathetic toward those with high ambitions; you prefer the more satisfied types, particularly in women.

Because your first impressions are usually accurate, you should be guided by them as much as possible. Your ability to take in an entire situation with a glance makes you an exceptionally good judge of what is going on around you—of moods, behavior motivations, and so on where other people are concerned, and of physical circumstances and conditions surrounding those people. Your originality marks you as a person of great creativity—and your creativity marks you as one to be admired, respected, and emulated.

Generally healthy insofar as your physical well-being is concerned, you are somewhat inclined to worry too much to be considered in the best of shape emotionally. Your inability to take things as they come makes you a prime candidate for nervous tension; on the other hand, your insistence on spending your leisure time in the pursuit of your many interests charges nervous tension into productive energy.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your star be your daily guide.

Sunday, May 6
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Work on your own do-it-yourself projects this morning. Afternoon hours can be put to profitable use if you are wise enough to spot an opportunity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — An uneventful Sunday morning livens into an active, interesting afternoon that may well take you by surprise. Concentrate on past history.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Take care of unfinished family business today. Morning worship puts you in contact with spiritual notions you may have been avoiding lately.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — The wise Leo will avoid setting any store by romance at this time. Wisdom dictates taking a sensible, practical, logical approach to things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Business associates make this a different kind of Sunday. Take another's interest in your welfare seriously—and do something about it!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Let your integrity be your guide. If you've given your promise, live by it; if you haven't, feel free to change your mind — once!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Moodiness in the morning may mean forfeit for your newest plans. Take care not to allow a few cross words to redirect success into failure.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Projects recently put aside can be taken up again this afternoon. Church attendance in morning does much to re-establish lines of communication with family.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) — Be prepared for an hour or so of adversity this morning. Afternoon hours make earlier worries and frustration worth the trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — A day when you can realize your potential along the lines of your personal relationships. The friend of a friend does much to bring new happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Be aware of your own place

LINCOLN AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH

Really... a building is not a church. Though we often refer to a building as a church, the church is the people. The local church gathers somewhere, usually in a building, from time to time.

The Bible describes a real church as the body of Christ. As the people that compose Lincoln Avenue Baptist go about doing good... doing the things that Jesus Christ wants done in our community... then indeed we are functioning as a church. We meet from time to time, thus obeying the Biblical command of "not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together."

It is the prayer of the pastor that Lincoln Avenue Baptist Church is a true church... not yet without sin... made up of people in need... and yet made up, for the most part, of people that have been personally changed and helped by Jesus Christ through the power of the Holy Spirit.

Pastor Harold Hendrick

(Kentucky Fried Chicken will write, as a public service, about other churches in the area; your church may be next. Read this column every week for a little knowledge and better understanding of all churches.)

You wonder how it got there... a sapling far from the forest. And grew... alone, untended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real... for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.

The "Black Factor" Under Study

(Last in a Series.)
By DAVID HENDIN
NEA Science Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The blood serum of about 80 per cent of black people contain a substance which may help stop the growth of cancer in white patients when it is injected, according to a husband and wife team of cancer fighters in Seattle, Wash.

The "black factor" appears to unblock a mechanism in cancer patients which previously prevented the individual's body from fighting off the invading cancer cells.

This theory stems from the work of Drs. Ingegerd and Karl Hellstrom over the past several years in which they have found clues to fighting cancer in the body's immune system — the same system which rejects a transplanted heart or other organ because the tissue is "foreign."

Work of the two physicians, originally from Sweden's famed Caroline Institute, is based on their findings — now confirmed by others — that most, if not all, cancer tissues contain the foreign substances called tumor-specific antigens. These are not found in normal, noncancerous tissues in a person's body.

Usually these foreign substances would cause a person's system to produce anti-bodies, including certain types of white blood cells called lymphocytes, to fight them.

But the mystery has been in the body's apparent lack of ability to knock out a cancerous growth in this way. The Hellstroms have found that the blood of laboratory animals and many cancer patients does contain anti-bodies that are capable of killing off the cancers which their bodies harbor. And these antibodies kill cancer cells in test tubes in the laboratory — but not in the patient's body.

This is due to a substance called "blocking antibody," which the Hellstroms have discovered. It appears to protect a cancerous tumor from attack by the body's lymphocytes.

It is this blocking antibody which the black factor seems to destroy. In studies, the Hellstroms repeatedly found that serum from certain donors seemed to unblock the blocking antibody in tumor cells taken from more than 100 patients with a relatively rare type of cancer called melanoma. In other words, serum containing the "black factor" enabled the bodies of melanoma victims to more effectively fight off their cancers on their own.

"We soon noticed that we started to recognize some of the names of the serum donors. They were black people who were working with us, or students and technicians," explained Dr. Karl Hellstrom in a recent interview in Nogales, Ariz., where the American Cancer Society held its annual seminar for science journalists.

"We then did a systematic study of blacks and whites and found that whites react immunologically to melanomas about five per cent of the time, but blacks reacted at about the frequency of 80 per cent."

As one would therefore expect, melanomas are exceedingly rare in the black population. And when they do occur they are usually on the palms of the hands or the soles of the feet — areas where there is much less skin pigmentation.

The Hellstroms stress that their studies are strictly at an experimental stage. They are currently conducting a project with six melanoma patients who have failed to respond to conventional methods of therapy. This study will be broadened to 60 patients in the next two years. These patients will receive transfusions of blood from healthy black donors in an attempt to determine scientifically whether they can recover better than patients receiving plasma from white donors.

The researchers said they "felt encouraged" about their work, and added that if their experiments do indeed indicate that serum from blacks does help certain cancer patients, it would be possible to treat both potential and actual victims.

"Potential" victims of this and other types of cancers may be detected while the tumors are exceedingly small, and thus much easier to treat, if another part of the Hellstrom's research develops.

Basically, they have discovered

St. Paul Mother, Daughter Tea This Sunday

CHAPIN — The Mary and Martha Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran church of rural Chapin met April 26 in the church basement. All LWML members were invited to the meeting. Mrs. Eugene Post accompanied singing of the opening hymn. Pastor Ramthun gave the opening scripture and prayer. The topic was a film, God At Work Through Us.

Roll was answered by 27 members. Mrs. Marvin Ramthun and Mrs. Gladys Nergenh were callers to shut-ins. The reports of the secretary, treasurer, and standing committees were heard.

Correspondence consisted of a thank you note from Eula Jurgens and an invitation to the L.W.M.L. District convention in Springfield May 31. Mrs. Robert Burrus and Mrs. Russell Werries will serve as delegates to the convention and Mrs. Marvin Ramthun and Mrs. Arlo Schumacher, alternates. Reservations must be made by May 13 with Mrs. Arthur W. Nergenh. The program chairman announced the Circle has planned a Mother-Daughter or Guest Tea on May 6, at 2:30 ered that the "blocking antibodies" can be found in a patient's blood serum before a tumor can be detected by any other means. At this time, however, such tests are extremely complicated, time consuming and expensive. "Before anything else, the strategy should be to simplify the very complicated techniques which we are using," Dr. Karl Hellstrom said.

Although the Hellstroms believe that this type of test looks promising, they note that their studies thus far have been small and much broader studies are needed before anyone even begins to think about mass screenings of the public. The Hellstroms' findings suggest that if physicians can improve a patient's anti-tumor reactions without increasing the blocking antibodies, or if the blocking antibody's effecting anti-tumor activity, there will be therapeutic benefits for many cancer patients.

'A Splendid Little War' (10)

To Admiral Pascual Cervera y Topete, commanding six outclassed, wooden-decked warships bottled up in Santiago Harbor since May, a sortie against the waiting Americans "would be positively certain destruction."

To Madrid, however, loss of the fleet in battle was better than its capture or scuttling. Thus on Sunday morning, July 3, 1898, the cruisers Infanta Maria Teresa, Vizcaya, Oquendo, Cristobal Colon and two torpedo boats got up steam and headed toward the sea.

It was a lucky moment for Commodore Winfield Schley aboard the Brooklyn when the first Spaniard passed Morro Castle and turned west. In the distance, the flagship New York carrying Admiral William Sampson, who had been jumped in rank over Schley at the beginning of the war, was heading east to Siboney and a scheduled meeting with General Shafter.

By the time the New York was able to turn around and reach the scene, much of the destruction Cervera had foretold had been accomplished. His flagship Teresa was a burning wreck on the beach. The blazing Oquendo had also gone aground.

The Vizcaya met her fate next, but for a time the speedy Colon seemed to be escaping. Not until she had put 75 miles between herself and Morro Castle, as American shells bracketed her, did the Colon's captain turn her into shore. The requirements of honor had been satisfied.

Again it was a one-sided victory for the Navy. The Spanish lost more than 500 officers and men; U.S. casualties: one dead and 10 wounded.

Cost of the ammunition expended: $85,000.

"The fleet under my command offers the nation as a Fourth of July present the whole of Cervera's fleet," Sampson cabled to President McKinley. But already a controversy had begun between the partisans of Sampson and Schley over who deserved credit for the victory.

The war, at least as far as the Cuban theater was concerned, was over. On July 17, the Americans entered Santiago. The next day, Spain asked for armistice terms.

The expansionists in Congress and McKinley's cabinet were now confronted with the alarming possibility that peace might come before the United States could secure the Philippines.

If you were going to design a lawn mower, where would you put the grass catcher?

On the right side, so it bumps into whatever's sticking up? On the left side, so it does the same there? The fact is, most grass bags are afterthoughts. It seems they simply weren't designed to be a part of the mower.

The Snapper V21 or V18 has its grass bag between the handles. You can close trim on both sides, and vacuum your lawn of pine straw, leaves and light litter while you're mowing. We made the grass bag extra large, too. For less emptying. In fact, all the good things about Snapper V21 or V18 are the result of sound design and planning by people who make lawn equipment and only lawn equipment.

Don't Send Pipe Tobacco To Your Friends In Brazil

By BRUCE HANDLER
Associated Press Writer
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Don't send pipe tobacco to your friends in Brazil. It might get them thrown in jail.

A U.S. citizen living in this South American country swears that's what almost happened after a buddy from Chicago mailed him a $6 tobacco sampler as a gift.

A notice from the Brazilian post office arrived last October in the home of the American, whom we shall call Smith because he doesn't want any more trouble with the cops, advising him to pick up an overseas package.

When Smith arrived at the post office, an employee told him: "Pipe tobacco. You ought to know it's against the law to bring pipe tobacco into Brazil. We'll have to burn it."

"I didn't know the guy was going to send it to me. Couldn't you ship it back to Chicago,"

Smith asked. "The law says we have to burn it," came the reply. Smith left.

Six months later there was another notice from the post office. The same package was waiting for Smith, and the post office people put him through the same routine.

"I'd like to see the law that says you have to burn it," Smith said this time. "I'm perfectly willing to comply with Brazil's laws. I'd just like to see it on paper." The post office told him to go to the internal revenue department.

There, a tax official dragged out a copy of the law that really says a person can be jailed from six months to two years for bringing foreign tobacco products illegally into Brazil.

Then Smith overplayed his hand. "I'd like to watch you burn my package," he said.

The tax man exploded. "What? You doubt the word of a Brazilian official? I could have you jailed for disrespect—even for endangering national security.

"Witnesses. I need two witnesses." "I'm a witness," shouted a Brazilian who had been sort of dozing in a corner. He ran over to the American.

"Get a court reporter to take a statement," the offended tax man continued.

Smith was starting to sweat. "You misunderstood the purpose of my question," he said. "I never questioned your authority. It's just that as a foreigner I am interested in Brazilian customs, and I thought it would be interesting to watch you burn illegal packages."

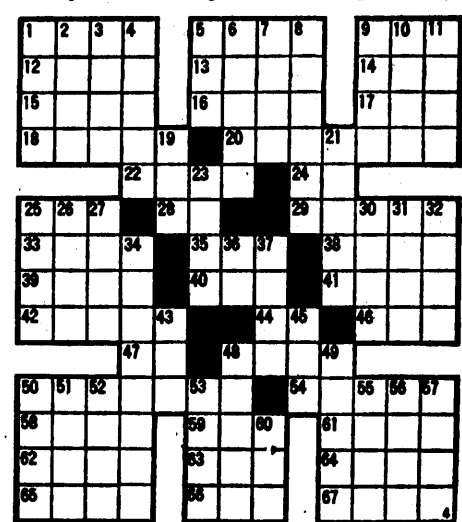

The tax official thought for a while and said: "Well, all right. We won't prosecute you this time. But just remember, you'd better be careful when you're dealing with federal authorities. And next time, don't lose your head."

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Vasectomy Won't
Harm Sex Drive

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—I enjoy your column in my newspaper—keep up the good work.

I would like some information concerning the operation "vasectomy." My wife and I have been married for more than 20 years and have five grown children—so you can see if we don't always take the needed precautions there is the possibility of unwanted children.

There seems to be two different opinions—one says that sex drive is considerably decreased and the other says it isn't so.

As there is no sperm present at climax, does it not reduce the feeling of pleasure?

I have always been under the impression it was the sperm that caused this feeling. We have been advised by my doctor to have this operation, as he doesn't care to put my wife on the "pill."

Have you had any experience along this line and what are your feelings on this? How long after the operation does it take to be free of all sperm?

Would you advise this at my age? I'm in my middle 50s and my wife is about eight years younger.

Dear Reader—There is no evidence that vasectomy decreases the man's sensations or responses. The changes of this nature after the operation are usually of psychological origin and frequently because the individual doesn't understand the operation.

The sperm cells constitute a very minute portion of the orgasm, probably you can put all of the sperm cells in an area not much bigger than the head of a pin. Most of the material comes from the secretions of the prostate gland and the seminal vesicles. You may be interested to know that a number of years ago a type of vasectomy was advised to restore older men's sexual drive. It was finally concluded that it did not have any effect.

There have been a few scary reports recently on the vasectomy most of which are exaggerations in the public press of a theory advanced on early research work on animals. Since then a number of authorities have come forth and pointed out, in a truth squad action, that there is no evidence that having a vasectomy without complications causes serious eases or other problems.

You and your wife will have to decide whether you should have a vasectomy or not. I am not sure why she can't take the pill. Some doctors use the pill to support a woman through her menopause and thereafter to prevent post-menopausal changes. After all, they have the same effects as the normal female hormone. Your wife should not be too far off the time she would expect to undergo these changes.

An alternative to the vasectomy is the intrauterine device (IUD). These have been highly successful and can be removed at any time.

A man has to be tested over a period of time after a vasectomy to find out if he is still releasing sperm or not. It usually requires several specimens free of sperm before a doctor will feel secure that a man is no longer capable of producing sperm cells or inducing pregnancy.

Civilian Casualties Increase In Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — The crash of an American warplane at Phnom Penh's airport and a Communist mortar attack that hit a civilian transport plane in the port of Kompot claimed a fresh toll of civilian casualties in Cambodia on Friday.

The latest incident involving U.S. air support for the Phnom Penh regime of President Lon Nol came on the heels of growing criticism of American bombing in Cambodia.

Ellsberg

(Continued From Page One) he said, he and Liddy met with the CIA men who gave them the camera which was to be used to photograph Ellsberg's psychiatric records and provided them with the disguises. He did not say what the disguises were, but said they were given false identification papers to use.

Hunt said that throughout the operation Krogh was aware of all developments. He said that following the break-in he and Liddy went to a Los Angeles hotel and at 4 a.m. they called Krogh to inform him the burglary had occurred. Later, he said, Krogh was given a full report.

Krogh took a sudden leave of absence earlier this week as Undersecretary of Transportation.

At one point in his testimony, Hunt added to the mystery surrounding the burglary by saying, "I operated through Mr. Krogh ... but I had been given a sterile (phone) number at the Central Intelligence Agency to call when material requirements needed to be met." He said that was an unlisted number in which the billing could not be traced.

After the break-in, Hunt said he tried to tell former White House counsel Charles W. Colson about what had happened. But Colson refused to listen.

Hunt said he went to Colson's office carrying with him a photograph of the rifled file cabinet in Fielding's office and told Colson, "I have something I want to show you that has to do with my actions last weekend." Hunt said Colson told him, "I don't want to hear about it," and rushed into another office.

Hunt said David Young, a former employee of the National Security Agency, also knew about the authorization for the burglary.

Hunt said that he never talked to Ehrlichman himself about the burglary and related matters and does not know if Ehrlichman or any other officials in the White House were informed about it. He said the initial investigation into Ellsberg's psychiatric history was launched because of official fears that Ellsberg might become a political "martyr" if he were prosecuted.

Hunt said, "It became known to Mr. Liddy and myself, and I believe it must have been Mr. Krogh who told us there was an intense amount of interest in Mr. Ellsberg." He said the White House had been receiving reports from the FBI and other law enforcement bureaus, and that he was given access to all of this material on a routine basis.

"At that time, as I understood it, there was some concern in the White House about the appropriateness of seeing the prosecution actually take place in regard to Dr. Ellsberg and his associates, and I shared that concern, my own feeling being that he would probably become a martyr, in looking at things politically and I thought it was a poor judgment to draw."

He said FBI reports kept coming in on Ellsberg and "a picture of a man began to emerge that aroused not only interest on certain White House officials, and I'm not sure who all of them (were), but certainly on the part of Mr. Krogh and Mr. Young, and as far as that goes, myself, to the extent I was a White House official, and Mr. Liddy."

It was at this point, Hunt said, that Krogh suggested a report be made on Ellsberg's "prosecutability." He said he didn't remember who first mentioned the possibility of a "bag job" on the psychiatrist's office.

Hunt noted that when the operation began to progress, "It was pointed out to us ... that no one with any association with the White House could be involved in any way directly with such an operation."

Thus, he said, "I was asked whether or not as a result of my old CIA contacts, I could come up with a team capable to make such an entry. I said that I would look into it, and I must have gone down to Miami at that time to interview Mr. Barker and some of his associates ... Mr. Barker said he would be very glad to help in a national security operation, which is how I described the operation to him."

He said he then met the two Cubans, whom he named as Only 24 hours earlier, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., a Republican from Maryland, sponsored in the U.S. Senate a resolution branding American bombing in Cambodia unconstitutional. The "sense of the Senate" resolution called for an immediate halt.

North Vietnam, reacting to President Nixon's threat of renewed war in his State of the World message to Congress, demanded that the United States "terminate its aggression against Cambodia."

The Communists also came in for their share of criticism. The Canadian delegation to the four-nation International Com-

Martha

(Continued From Page One) a pretrial statement taken Thursday in connection with a series of Watergate-related civil suits. The transcript of the testimony was made public Friday.

"When the vice president didn't want to do anything, they called on Martha Mitchell," she said.

Mrs. Mitchell's husband, John, the former attorney general was Nixon's campaign director until his resignation two weeks after the Watergate break-in.

She said she had been begging him to resign because "John had a lot of trouble with the command over at the White House. They were running everything from the White House and John was having a difficult time."

I was having a difficult time. I felt that I was doing far more than was necessary for me to do."

She was asked by one of the 11 lawyers present at the deposition: "You didn't campaign any more after the Watergate incident?"

"I not only didn't campaign, I left," she replied.

When she read in California about the June 17 break-in of the Democratic party headquarters, Mrs. Mitchell said she called her husband in Washington.

"I was dazed. I couldn't tell you what he told me because I was really dazed. Here I had been out working so hard for the Republicans and to have some horrible thing such as this take place. It was just so contrary to my beliefs and the way I operate. I couldn't believe it."

It was then, Mrs. Mitchell said, that she called a reporter and said if her husband didn't quit as campaign director, she would leave him.

"I decided in order to get my husband out of Washington, the easiest way to do it was to say it publicly, which I did," Mitchell resigned soon after.

Mrs. Mitchell said she asked for someone to help her with scheduling appearances and got bodyguards—"these horrible creatures"—instead. "It would take a lifetime to go out and find four more unsuitable people to travel with Martha Mitchell," she added.

She said either James W. McCord Jr., or "the little Katzenbacher Kids at the White House" ordered the bodyguards.

McCord, the former security chief for the re-election committee, was one of the five men arrested inside the Watergate and one of seven convicted of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping in the case.

"Mr. Martinez and Mr. Felipe DiDago," who he said were then hired for the job.

He said he and Liddy went to Los Angeles with the two Cubans on Labor Day weekend of 1971 and checked in at the Beverly Hilton Hotel under assumed names.

Before the transcript was handed over to the defense by Judge Byrne, the judge had ordered the government's rebuttal testimony to proceed.

Earlier in the day, Byrne denied a defense request to dismiss the indictment against Ellsberg and Russo. The defense contended the court's "appearance of fairness" was damaged by Byrne's discussions in March with Ehrlichman about becoming FBI director. Byrne said "nothing has compromised my ability to act as a fair and impartial judge in the case."

While the court waited for the Hunt testimony to arrive, Judge Byrne turned over to the defense copies of documents found in Hunt's White House safe—a 38-page "chronology" on Ellsberg's life which notes a phone call from Ellsberg to his psychiatrist. Also among documents found in the safe was a list of names of newspaper reporters.

The defense claimed on Thursday that newspaper reporters' telephones had been tapped by Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy in connection with the Pentagon Papers investigation.

mission of Control and Supervision for Vietnam urged that the Viet Cong be censured if they refuse to approve wider air corridors for peacekeeping helicopters. The dispute has caused a delay in one of the most important provisions of the Vietnam peace agreement—the exchange of civilian prisoners.

The crash of the U.S. warplane near Phnom Penh's Pochentong Airport killed five persons and injured 10, the U.S. Pacific Command in Honolulu said Friday.

Command sources denied that the A7 Corsair hit a hospital, as early reports from witnesses had indicated. A command spokesman said the crash destroyed three farmhouses in the sparsely populated area about a mile southwest of the air field.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the plane crashed because of mechanical difficulties. The spokesman did not know if the plane had been hit by gunfire. U.S. warplanes have been flying missions against Communist forces, which control about two-thirds of Cambodia.

Mrs. Bogdanske, Mother Of Ray Sadler, Dies

Mrs. Lillian M. Bogdanske, mother of Ray Sadler of this city, died at 5:50 a.m. Friday at Passavant hospital where she had been a patient since April 15th. Mrs. Bogdanske lived at 800 Hoagland Boulevard and was 72 years of age.

She was born in Chicago April 29, 1901, daughter of Edward John and Mary Katherine Garyse. She married Ray Sadler in Meno Park, California, in June of 1918. After his death she was married to August Bogdanske, who preceded her in death.

In addition to her son of this city there are four grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Mrs. Bogdanske was the last of her immediate family. She was a member of Church of our Saviour and the Altar and Rosary Society.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Monday at Church of our Saviour. Interment will be at 3 p.m. at Chapel Hill Gardens (South), Chicago.

The family will meet friends at Williamson Funeral Home 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday with Prayer Service to be at 8:15 p.m.

Name Airport At Pittsfield After Penstone

PITTSFIELD — At a special meeting of the old Pittsfield City Council, it was unanimously agreed to name the new Pittsfield airport, now under construction, the Penstone Municipal Airport honoring retiring mayor Frank E. Penstone, Sr.

Penstone has been mayor of Pittsfield for 15 years and worked continuously for an adequate airport.

Newly elected city officials were sworn into office April 24 by outgoing clerk Mrs. Katherine Smith. The new slate includes Wilson Hall, alderman in the first ward; Wendell Hall and Don Foreman, aldermen in the second ward; Myron Casteel, third ward; Kenneth Mixer, fourth ward; Nick Smith, treasurer; Don Hanback, city clerk; and Dudley Williams, the new mayor.

Preceding the swearing-in ceremony, Mrs. Smith and Penstone were presented engraved silver Revere bowls by Alderman Clay Owens in appreciation for their years of service.

The first meeting of the new city council will held Tuesday night at city hall. Wilson Hall, alderman in the first ward, was given the oath of office, being absent when other officers were sworn in. Harold Scott was approved and sworn in as alderman in the third ward to fill the vacancy created by Dudley Williams who was elected mayor.

Old and new business was discussed including the selection of an auditing firm; clarifying street construction and maintenance codes in new subdivision between city and FHA; and parking problems at the Pittsfield Library.

The council accepted the bid of Strata, Inc., of Springfield and Vic Callender of Pittsfield for materials for repair and improvements to city streets.

The letter appeared to make Muskie the author of an obvious smear. Muskie was the leading national contender for the Democratic presidential nomination then, although Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won the Florida primary and Muskie faded soon afterward.

In an FBI report made public earlier this year Nixon's personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, was quoted as saying he paid Segretti between $30,000 and $40,000 on orders of Dwight Chapin, Nixon's appointments secretary.

Segretti's alleged forgery is the second anti-Muskie letter linked to the White House.

During the New Hampshire primary last year a letter appeared in the Manchester Union-Leader quoting Muskie as referring to New England's French-Canadian minority as "Canucks," a racial slur. The Floridian who supposedly wrote the letter was never found. Later a Washington Post reporter quoted Deputy White House Communications Director Ken W. Clawson—himself a former Post newsman—as claiming to be the true author of the letter. Clawson now denies he made such a claim.

In other Watergate developments Friday: —Court officials unsealed sworn testimony by former Nixon campaign treasurer Hugh Sloan Jr., who said records of more than $1 million in secret campaign cash are missing and apparently destroyed. Some of the money in question is reported to have found its way into various hidden caches, at least one of which was used to finance the Watergate wiretapping.

—The White House released new guidelines on executive privilege which order Ehrlichman, Haldeman and any other present or former White House aides not to answer questions about conversations with the President, official presidential papers, or even conversations among themselves concerning communications with the President. The guidelines appear to cover all conversations with the President, whether or not they were official.

—Senate sources reported that Atty. Gen. designate Elliot L. Richardson, who is conducting President Nixon's own inquiry into the Watergate affair, is considering picking an unnamed retired federal appellate judge as a special prosecutor in the case. A qualified source said Philadelphia lawyer William T. Coleman, who had been reported as a likely choice for the special prosecutor's role, is actually under consideration for a subcommittee post and not for the Watergate job.

The Orlando indictment carries a maximum possible penalty of two years in jail and a $2,000 fine for Segretti and another man, George A. Hearing of Tampa, Fla. They were charged with one count of conspiracy and one count of illegally failing to identify themselves as the authors of the phony Muskie letter.

Briggs said at least one person was granted immunity from prosecution in the case, but wouldn't identify who it is.

The indictment names Robert Milton Benz, former Nixon campaign worker and one-time president of the Tampa Young Republicans, as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Briggs said he had exchanged information with the Watergate grand jury in Washington and that this had proved helpful in the Segretti indictment. Segretti, Kalmbach and Chapin all have appeared before the Watergate panel.

Briggs also said unnamed newsmen in Washington had given him helpful telephone tips.

He said he hopes to bring other indictments against the grand jury hears more evidence.

Muskie's official comments Friday were brief: "The indictment of Mr. Segretti is a matter for the courts. I do not intend to comment at this time."

Sen. Humphrey was in South Dakota, attending the funeral of his mother, and wasn't immediately available for comment.

Sen. Jackson told a news conference in Washington that he had tried to get two federal prosecutors in Tampa to investigate the letter as soon as it was distributed, "but they sat on their hands."

Jackson said he had asked Sen. Ervin to investigate the conduct of the prosecutors, including any orders to them from the Justice Department.

He said he asked for action on March 14, 1972, the date of the primary, and again on Oct. 23, when news stories about the phony letters appeared. But he said Briggs wrote him two months ago, March 5, saying his investigations had turned up nothing. That was before Segretti, Kalmbach, and Chapin appeared before the Washington grand jury.

Next French A-Tests Making Political Waves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The next French nuclear tests over the South Pacific, planned for May or June, are making political waves in some countries, but others around the area are keeping quiet for a change.

Tugboats in Australia won't tug French boats. Fishermen in Peru demand that the tests be scrapped.

Private yachts are reported sailing into the test zone. New Zealand is talking of sending a frigate to the site with a cabinet minister aboard and holding France responsible for any damage.

In Britain, a Labor member of Parliament said fallout from last year's French test came down on the descendants of the Bounty mutineers on Pitcairn Island.

Nobel Prize-winner Linus Pauling warned that the tests would increase abnormal births and cancer cases.

In Paris, a member of the Socialist opposition to the Gaullist government asked why the tests could not take place in France if they are as harmless as the government claims.

New Zealand and Australia plan to ask the International Court of Justice at The Hague for an injunction against the tests.

To all the protests, the French government replies firmly that the tests will go ahead as planned. Foreign Minister Michel Jobert said he was astonished at "orchestrated campaigns" to stir up public opinion in Australia and New Zealand.

The French claim the tests at the Mururoa Atoll endanger no one including the populations of the Pacific Basin countries.

The site is 4,000 miles from the Australian and South American coasts and 800 miles southeast of French Tahiti.

A spokesman for Peru's military government said it is convinced the nuclear blasts are damaging to marine life; fishing is a major element in the Peruvian economy. Some Peruvians also fear the explosions will increase the danger of earthquakes.

The nuclear weapon program has always been a matter of national pride in France. Deputy Armed Forces Minister Aymer Achille Fould told the National Assembly Wednesday that of all the factors in the government's decision to go ahead with tests this year, the most important was "the necessity to ensure national independence" for France.

Some governments that have been loud opponents of French testing in the past have been quiet so far this year. These include Chile, Bolivia and Colombia, which with Ecuador and Peru made a formal demand in June 1972 for suspension of last year's tests.

Ecuador's foreign ministry issued a statement in April condemning the "atomic explosion" but has made no further protest. Peru's war minister said his government was working for joint action by all countries affected by the tests.

Leftover Pastry Dough Makes Dandy Dumplings

DEAR POLLY—I have a baking tip that might help others who also are trying not to waste food and to make use of everything. When making pies usually there is a little pat of the pastry left. Instead of discarding it I roll this out into a circle, place a peeled, cored apple in the center and add sugar and cinnamon. I fold the pastry around the apple to seal the edges and wrap in foil or put in a bag to go in the freezer. When enough of them are accumulated for the family, all I need do is to bake them in a sugar syrup and have a pan of apple dumplings.—IRENE

DEAR POLLY — Changing trends in living bring new Pet Peeves with amazing rapidity. Junk mail was long high on my list but now the junk in newspapers and magazines has joined the club. When the paper is opened something always falls out, to be picked up by me or scattered by the wind, whichever comes first. Magazines are filled with coupons and cards that fall out as I thumb through the pages. Another Peeve high on my list is the growing number of TV comedians who use their spouses as the target for their jokes. Both males and females are guilty and I think it is in poor taste as surely their ridiculed mates must suffer from this public show of disrespect and, to go back a generation, "it ain't funny, McGee."—MARGARET

Blueboys Put Hopes In Field

Greenville is favored to win the Prairie College Conference track and field meet Saturday, but a strong entry in field events gives host Illinois College a good chance to pull an upset.

Field events are slated for Illinois College Athletic Field at 10 a.m. Running will be at Jacksonville High School at 1 p.m.

Actually, strength of the conference is divided among three schools. The Blueboys dominate potential points in field events, Greenville in the distance races, and Eureka College in the sprints.

Greenville returns a number of outstanding performers from last year's championship squad, including Rick Weinhandl, who has best recorded times among conference runners this season in the 440, 800, and mile. With the 400 and mile in consecutive spots on the schedule, he will run only two events, and will be favored in both.

Ron Summers has by far the best marks in the shot put and discus, and he and Capt. Dave Deshasier should be big point producers for the Blueboys. Deshasier has a good chance to place in four events plus the relay, being entered in the shot put, discus, 100, and 220.

Major Barnes, Blackburn senior, has the best marks in the long and triple jumps, and is another potential double winner.

Rick Smith of Eureka is defending champion in both the 100 and 220 and holds the loop record in both events, but his teammate, Dan Ewald, has better performances in both races this spring.

Macomb Sweeps 2 From Tigers

BEARDSTOWN — Host Beardstown gave up only ten hits in two games but was guilty of 15 fielding miscues as the Tigers dropped a Spoon River Conference twinbill to undefeated Macomb High, 5-1 and 4-3, Friday afternoon.

Alan Taylor had two hits for Beardstown in the first game. The Tigers now stand 7-6 overall and 2-3 in league play, with Macomb now 13-0 and 4-0.

PHILADELPHIA — Number one NBA draft pick, Doug Collins of Illinois State University, shows his long reach at a press conference in Philadelphia Friday, where he announced he had signed with the Philadelphia 76ers. Also chose first in the rival ABA draft by the New York Nets, Collins said the 76ers gave him a "better offer."

Clan Divides Wild Twinbill

MONMOUTH — MacMurray College ripped Monmouth 17-2 in the second game to gain a split in a wild doubleheader played Saturday afternoon.

MacMurray, now 10-5, saw an eight-run lead disappear in the fourth inning of the first game as Monmouth went on to win 11-0 over the Highlanders in the opener. Mac returned to dominate the second game in five innings in a game called early on the ten-run rule.

Nine home runs were swatted in the first game with Monmouth getting grand slam home runs off of Satterly and Shepard in the fourth inning that erased MacMurray's eight-run lead. Monmouth got another home run in the bottom of the seventh to win it as Satterly hit two in the game and Shepard accounted for three.

Ron Striker got his eighth home run of the year and Larry Sample hit a grand slam as Mac got ten runs in the top of the fifth to blast Monmouth. Both batters also had doubles as the Highlanders collected 11 hits in the game.

MacMurray travels today to the Midlands Conference tournament in Dubuque where the Clan faces Loras College at 9 a.m. in the first game. If the Highlanders win, they will go on to face Quincy in a second game in the afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doug Collins, the National Basketball Association No. 1 draft pick, signed a contract for more than one million dollars Friday with the Philadelphia 76ers.

Collins, a 6-foot-6 guard from Illinois State, agreed to a multi-year contract with the club that last season set a pro basketball record for utility. Philadelphia won only nine of 82 games, finishing last in the Eastern Conference. The 76ers got the first pick in last month's draft after a toss with Portland, the last place team in the West.

The 21-year-old Collins said he wasn't concerned with the 76ers' record, only with the outlook for next season. "I just hope I'll be able to help make Philadelphia a contender while I'm here," he said.

The size of the contract was confirmed by Collins' agent, attorney Herbert Rudy of Chicago.

76ers' General Manager Don DeJardin, who announced the signing, said of Collins, "He is the most exciting player in college basketball. He was acknowledged as the best defensive player on the Olympic team."

Collins was a member of the U.S. Olympic team in Munich last year, stole the ball, was fouled and converted two free throws with three seconds remaining that gave the United States its only lead against Russia in the controversial championship game.

Collins, who scored 2,240 points for a 29.1 average during his college career at Illinois State, feels his main adjustment from college to pro basketball will be playing three or four times a week.

"They play 100 games counting exhibitions, regular season and playoffs, and that's as many as I played in my entire college career," Collins said.

"I'm going to have to get used to the demanding schedule. I do have good stamina and endurance, and I'm not a fragile player. I feel I can take the pounding."

Collins also was drafted by the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association. He said he thought about the ABA, but that he always wanted to play in the NBA, and that Philadelphia made him a better offer.

May, Robinson Boost Angels By Orioles, 1-0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson, in his first Baltimore appearance since being traded by the Orioles after the 1971 baseball season, doubled with two out in the seventh inning and scored on Bob Oliver's double as the California Angels won 1-0 Friday night on Rudy May's two-hitter.

May, 3-1, hurling his third straight American League shut-out, retired 13 batters in a row at one point after Brooks Robinson singled with two out in the second inning. The second hit off the California pitcher was a double by Bobby Grich in the ninth inning, when the Orioles put two men on base.

The hit by Brooks Robinson was the 2,417th of his major league career, the most ever by a third baseman, topping the mark of the late Pie Traynor.

Frank Robinson, honored in pregame ceremonies, doubled to right center off Dave McNally, 3-4, who lost his second 1-0 shutout to the Angels in nine days.

Oliver then doubled over the head of left fielder Don Baylor, scoring Robinson.

Last Health Check For Derby Entries

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Royal and Regal and Angle Light apparently shrugged off minor health problems. Friday a and were pronounced ready for the 99th Kentucky Derby.

Although neither was in serious trouble, even a hangnail demands attention on the eve of the race that creates turf fans for a day the world over.

Trainer Jimmy Croll sent A. I. Savin's Royal and Regal to the Churchill Downs track for a three-furlong blowout to insure that a slight injury on the right front heel was healing.

Then Edwin Whittaker's Angle Light caused a backstretch stir when he bled slightly from the right nostril after a leisurely gallop.

Croll explained that Royal and Regal cut the ankle in last week's Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland and that dirty water on the ground here earlier this week apparently infected it.

Angle Light's bleeding prompted a quick call for Dr. Robert Copelan, a prominent veterinarian, who made a complete examination and pronounced the horse fit, an assistant trainer said.

The help wanted sign was removed from Joseph Kellman's Shucky Greene after Larry Adams was hired to ride him in the Derby. Braulio Baeza decided in favor of Blue Grass Stakes winner My Gallant.

Sammy Towne, who galloped both horses Friday, said Shucky Greene showed more pep and vinegar, "just like my Gallant did before the Blue Grass."

The pre-Derby tension settled, as usual, into quiet jitters as the dozen colts and one gelding got the finishing touches for their bids for the greatest prize in thoroughbred racing.

Lazy F. Ranch's Forego, the gelding in the field, blew out three-eighths of a mile in :35 1-5, a little faster than trainer Sherill Ward had expected.

Owned by Mrs. William Farish of Houston, and Mrs. Edward Gerry of Westbury, N.Y., Forego is the tallest of the Derby starters at 17 hands.

Also on the track for a brief romp for Saturday's 5:40 p.m. EDT, Derby was E.E. Elzemer's Warbucks, the hope for a second Derby victory for trainer Don Cob of Dust Commander fame.

Secretariat, who holds the favorite's role, was a ham actor in his stall after his final pre-Derby gallop, imitating his stablemate and 1972 Derby winner, Riva Ridge.

Secretariat goes in the $25,000-added Derby that will be the richest in history if all 13 start as a betting entry with Angle Light since both are trained by Lucien Laurin. Weather for the Derby, to be seen on television (CBS) from 5-6 p.m., EDT, and heard on radio (CBS) from 5:15-5:45, is predicted as sunny and mild with almost no chance of rain before post time.

Ken Confident In Return Match

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali has reached a point once described by Joe Louis. "He can run, but he can't hide," Louis said of Billy Conn before their now famous heavyweight title fight.

Similarly, the 31-year-old Ali cannot hide from the fact one more defeat at the hands of former Marine Ken Norton and he won't be much of a drawing card anymore.

The rematch will take place in the Forum at Inglewood, Calif., Sept. 19. Only Ali knows what mental scars he suffered in the first bout when Norton gained an upset 12-round split decision and broke his jaw in the process.

A subdued and humble Ali, who appeared with Norton at a joint news conference Thursday to announce the rematch, does not entertain any thoughts of a loss this time.

Ali admitted his string of victories led him to take Norton for granted. "I needed that loss but I promise it will be different next time," he said.

The former champion, who now has a 41-2 record, realizes he must win "if only to keep faith with all my supporters."

They have been wonderful," Norton, a 27-year-old who now has a 32-1 record, is confident he can score a repeat victory. "I'm a positive thinker. What I did once I can do again," he said. After a moment's pause, he added: "I'm afraid of no man."

With his bank balance about to be fattened by another $200,000 or 30 per cent of the live gate, Norton is not worried that some fans have not given credit for his victory.

To make sure there are no further upsets the promoter, Form Boxing Inc., has promised Norton a $50,000 advance against his purse. He must not box until the Ali fight.

Ali, who will get $275,000 or 35 per cent of the gate for the rematch, has canceled all overseas engagements until after the bout and also has been refused the right to a warmup fight.

The fight is expected to gross $750,000 in live receipts with further picking to be made from the sale of closed circuit television to 300 theaters in the U.S. and Canada, including the Los Angeles area.

Ali Portrays Repentant Kid

By MILTON RICHMAN
 UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali will never change.

Oh, sure, he seems different because now he talks with clenched teeth.

But also with the same old forked tongue.

His performance Thursday in the grill room of a local hotel was in a word, superb.

He was so good, in fact, they should've given him that Academy Award Marlon Brando turned down for The Godfather.

Muhammad Ali portrayed The Repentant Kid. You know, the one who gets caught smoking behind the woodshed and, with his head bent, solemnly vows never to do it again.

The occasion for Ali's appearance was a joint announcement by him and Ken Norton, the 27-year-old ex-Marine who broke his jaw and beat him five weeks ago, that they'd meet again Sept. 10 in the Forum at Inglewood, Calif.

In the past, anyone Muhammad Ali would come into a room like this it would be like something straight out of Pomp and Circumstance.

Not this time.

Not this time though.

He parked his shell gray Rolls Royce a few feet from the hotel entrance, told a buddy to keep one eye on it so he wouldn't get a ticket, and walked into the room where the announcement was to be made so quietly and inconspicuously hardly anybody really noticed he had arrived.

He picked out a chair not far from the doorway, away from where the microphones and TV lights had been set up, sat down, slouching, and somebody immediately went over and asked him about the licking he took from Norton in San Diego on March 31.

"Best thing ever happened to me," said Ali, clearly and distinctly even though he was speaking with his teeth together the way Edgar Bergen used to when he was working with Charlie McCarthy.

"I'm a ventriloquist now," Ali went on, impassively, without any semblance of a smile.

He got back to the original question. He wanted to show what a lesson he had been taught. He wanted to show it a little too much, it seemed.

He's Stayin' Home

"I'm stayin' at home with the children now," he said, without being prodded. "I'm gettin' to like stayin' home. Took the phone off the hook. No calls, Eatin' different, too. Vegetarian now. No more meat. Just a lotta vegetables, squid and fish."

You listen to what Muhammad Ali has to say, and if you're one of his devout believers, you come away figuring he has seen the light.

But you remember him saying things before.

You remember how he said after some of his other previous bouts that he hadn't trained seriously enough, he would train harder the next time, he would never take any opponent for granted again.

Yet, his very first words to a friend after having his jaw fixed and getting out of the hospital this time were:

"You know something? I should listen to Angelo (trainer Angelo Dundee). From now on, I'm gonna pay him mind."

That's pretty much the way Muhammad Ali played it Thursday after Norton got up and said he never feared any man and felt he'd beat Ali again.

A Little Apologetic

Ordinarily, that would have elicited a provocative rebuttal from Muhammad but not this time.

When it was his turn to speak, he looked a little apologetic and instead of launching into one of his customary tirades, he inquired, almost meekly:

"Any questions?"

"Is your jaw still wired?" was the first one.

Ali said it no longer was, although later he did say some wire still was left in the jaw bone where it had been tied together.

Had he learned any important lesson?

"Be more serious, that's all," said Ali.

"You weren't serious?"

"Not at all."

"Will you quit if you lose this one?"

"I don't consider losing. I don't ever think of losing. But I've learned somethin'. Gona get my weight down. I was up to 221. You know, puttin' cream in my coffee, butter on my bread, just not doin' the right things."

Should Know Better

Someone said he had been fighting for a long time now and should know better, and Ali nodded.

"Lotta things we know better," he said, "but we do wrong anyway."

What made him think, after back-sliding in his training the way he did, he could get back to where he once was again now?

"Six weeks of havin' my mouth bein' closed," said Ali.

That one got a laugh, but for the most part, Muhammad Ali played the whole thing low key.

On the way out, someone said to the ex-champ he had never seen him so subdued before.

"Am I subdued?" Ali came back. "I don't think I am, I don't feel I am. Just more serious. I gotta be more serious in training and produce."

Muhammad Ali suddenly stopped talking and threw a left jab at some phantom opponent.

Then, in another completely unrelated motion, an almost involuntary one, he reached into his back pocket, pulled out a comb and carefully, delicately fixed his hair.

Norton, Ali And Frazier Atop WBC

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Norton, who broke Muhammad Ali's jaw en route to an upset victory over the former champion, rates as the World Boxing Council's top heavyweight contender on the new ratings released Friday.

Ali ranks as the second rated challenger to George Foreman with Joe Frazier, the only fighter other than Norton to defeat Ali, third in the WBC ratings.

Busby Gets Aid In 5-3 Triumph Over Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Kansas City's Steve Busby, who pitched a no-hitter last time out, held Milwaukee hitless for the first 5 and 1-3 innings and got relief help from two pitchers to beat the Brewers 5-3 in an American League baseball game Friday night.

Busby, a rookie right-hander, gave up a home run to Dave May with one out in the sixth inning. He left after walking four of the next five batters, forcing in Milwaukee's second run.

Mike Jackson and Gene Garber finished up for the Royals to preserve Busby's third victory in five decisions.

John Mayberry knocked in three runs for the Royals with a home run and two run single off loser Jim Slaton, 1-2.

Busby pitched his no-hitter 4 weeks ago Friday night, a 3-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Former ISU Coach Killed In Auto Wreck

MONMOUTH, Ill. (UPI) — Two persons, including former Illinois State University Football Coach Lawrence Bitcon, were killed Thursday in a two-car collision on U.S. 34 about three miles east of here.

Bitcon, 38, Galesburg, and Terry L. Hughes, 32, Bettendorf, Iowa, were pronounced dead at the scene.

Police said Hughes apparently lost control of the car, crossed the centerline and collided head-on with the Bitcon auto.

Bitcon coached the Cardinals from 1965 through the 1971 season.

Rod Jackson Gains National Acclaim

CHARLESTON — Rod Jackson, the versatile Eastern Illinois University track All-American, has catapulted into national recognition for his recent victory in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles at the prestigious Drake Relays.

The senior team captain set a new Eastern school record as he covered the distance in 50.8 seconds to nip some of the best hurdlers in the country. "I was just hoping to qualify for the finals, but once I did that I realized it was my last shot at Drake so I decided to go all out and get it," Jackson said.

"After the win, it felt good. I was walking on a cloud all that day but it didn't take long to realize that there are a lot of other big meets still coming up this year."

This was not the first impressive performance for the former Jacksonville High School star. He is the defending champion in the NCAA College Division IM hurdles and was second in the 120-yard high hurdles.

He also holds the school record of 13.7 in the high hurdles, and anchors a leg of the 440-yard relay team which has a school record of 40.2.

Surprisingly, Jackson prefers the relay events to the hurdles. "I've been running the hurdles for about 10 years but I really like the relays. Depending upon your teammates' performance, in the relays you either hold the lead or have to make up ground. People rely on your legs."

He still claims there are too many things wrong with his high hurdles performance. "I think I can run it in 13.5 but I have to work on running in my own lane plus not getting nervous. I must learn to run better under pressure."

"The big thing in running hurdles is how fast you can move your legs between the hurdles. If I didn't have the ability to accelerate quickly then I'd be out of it," he said.

Jackson recently proved his track versatility when he won the 100-yard dash in 9.4 and the 220-yard dash in 21.3 in a dual meet. "I really surprised myself. I didn't know I could run that fast," he said.

"I'd really like to run the 100 in the NCAA nationals but with Sandy Osei-Agyeman (who has run a 9.3) healthy, I won't have to. If the events are spaced right, though, I may be able to spread myself around in a few events besides the hurdles."

He does not hesitate to predict a national championship for Eastern in the College Division. The Panthers finished

Badgers Sweep Doubleheader From Hawkeyes

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A run-scoring error in the first game and Tom Rodell's four-hit pitching in the second gave Wisconsin a double Big Ten baseball victory over Iowa Friday.

The Badgers took the first game 6-5 when Steve Bennett's seventh-inning grounder eluded Hawkeye shortstop Brad Trickey. Wisconsin won the nightcap 6-2 as Ed Zydowsky hit a home run and Randy Schawel and Greg Mahberg each knocked out two hits.

Hawkeye Bob Elliott hit a one-run homer in the second game.

Iowa took a 5-1 lead in the third inning of the opener, but Wisconsin came back to tie on Tom Shipley's single in the fifth.

Badger catcher Daryl Fuchs doubled in the bottom of the seventh, setting up the winning run which salvaged Andy Oting's fourth Big Ten victory against no defeats this season.

The victory gave Wisconsin a 7-3 conference mark and Iowa a 5-7 Big Ten record. Michigan State, rained out Friday, led the conference at 6-2.

fourth last year, and this year will be taking a full contingent to Crawfordsville, Ind., where the meet will be held late this month.

Jackson has no interest in the 1976 Olympics, but there is a slight glint in his eye when discussing a possible future in the newly-formed professional track meets.

"I want to stay competitive and pro track looks pretty good right now. There was a large crowd paying good money to see the Drake relays, so I think once pro track gets its feet on the ground then it will draw too."

Cousy 'Expects Physical Game

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Coach Bob Cousy of the U.S. basketball squad expects another physical game when his team meets the Russians here Saturday night for the fourth game in their series. But he says his players will be ready.

International rules are in effect for the series, and the Russians are more familiar with that style of game than the Americans.

"But this is the only way the Russians would agree to come over here, I'm told," said Cousy. "So we've had to live with them. Fouls are the big things. We have to learn how to play for the fouls."

"They (the Russians) know what they're doing. They don't care how many fouls their star players get. The coach has 12 men and I'm sure he expects all 12 of them to end up with four personal fouls each," Cousy added. "We started out trying some sort of disciplined game. We built everything around Bill Walton (UCLA All-American) and got only 13 minutes out of him in Los Angeles and that upset us."

"But he got hurt because of the way the Russians play for the fouls. They keep putting the pressure on you and they're big, husky guys. They start leaning on you from the waist down and by the time Walton would be ready for a lob pass, he'd go reaching for it and then he'd be horizontal six feet above the floor and then down he'd go."

Cousy said he was "pretty well satisfied the way things have gone. We had a heck of a time putting a team together, just getting the players to volunteer their time because they sure as heck aren't getting paid for it."

Missing when the Russian team suited up for practice Friday was 6-foot-6 Yevgeniy Kovalevko, who tore ligaments in Wednesday night's game and will be out of action Saturday.

But Aleksandr Belov, the 6-foot-7 Russian team leader, is healed enough from a pulled muscle that he'll be ready to go. He didn't play Wednesday night at Albuquerque when the U.S. beat the Russians 83-67, and was missed by the Soviet Union as the Americans dominated the backboards.

The Americans lead the series 2-1.

Turner Edges Armstrong 74-66 In Track Meet

Efforts by Eddie Williams and Greg List highlighted the meet as Turner junior high edged Armstrong 74-66 in a track meet held Friday afternoon.

Williams took three first places for Armstrong and was on the winning 440 relay squad, while List broke the existing junior high mark in the high jump.

Williams was first in the 100 at 11.6, took the 220 with a time of 24.6 and won the long jump with a leap of 18'8". Williams, Richards, Provo and Rattler combined to win the 440 relay in 49.5.

List cleared 5'6 1/2" in the high jump to break narrowly the record of 5'6" set by Ron Fairfield.

Buren Sets Mark At Lanphier Relays

SPRINGFIELD — John Buren of the Crimsons was first in the pole vault as Jacksonville High tied for fifth place behind champion Decatur High in the annual Lanphier Relays competition Friday night.

Buren soared 13' even to capture first place in the pole vault competition and set a new meet record that bettered the old mark of 12'6".

Cliff White notched a second in the long jump, with the two mile relay team of Ed Flynn, Bill Flynn, David Frank and Kim Redstock also nabbing a second.

Bill Versen took a third in the shot put with John Jameson notching a fifth. Jameson was third in the 100 yard big men's race for competitors over 200 pounds.

Three Crimsons relay squads finished fifth. Jim Fry, Bret Gardner, Alonza Fearson and Bill Flynn took fifth in the mile. Jim Orris, White, Gardner and Fearson were fifth in the two mile, while Frank, Gardner, Fry and Ed Flynn teamed up for fifth in the distance medley.

Decatur won the meet with a 67 point total, Quincy 49, Bloomington 34, Lincoln 31, Jacksonville and Springfield High 30, Lanphier 20 and Olympia 13.

Streaking Chisox Blank Yankees 5-0

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox posted their seventh consecutive victory Friday night, whipping the New York Yankees 5-0 behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Stan Bahnsen and Terry Forster.

Ken Henderson's three singles and a double led a 10-hit Chicago attack which sent Mel Stottlemyre to his fourth defeat in seven decisions.

Ex-Yankee Bahnsen, 4-1, walked six and hit a batter in the first four innings and, after continually pitching out of trouble, was replaced in the seventh by Forster.

The White Sox scored a pair of unearned runs in the first inning on an error by New York shortstop Gene Michael, singles by Dick Allen, Henderson and Mike Andrews and an infield out. They added two more in the fourth on Ed Herrmann's triple, Jorge Orta's sacrifice fly, Eddie Leon's double and another error by Michael.

Stottlemyre was lifted after four innings, the victim of four runs but only one of them earned due to errors in the first and fourth innings by Gene Michael, Bill Melton and Mike Andrews each knocked in a run in the first.

A two-run fourth was triggered by the first triple in the five-year career of Ed Herrmann. Morge Orta hit a sacrifice fly for one run, and Eddie Leon's double set up an unearned marker that scored on Michael's low throw to first.

Melton's single, Ken Henderson's bloop double behind first, and Herrmann's sacrifice fly stuck Jim Magnuson with a run in the fifth.

Bahnsen was dismissed after Roy White's leadoff single in the seventh, and Forster was aided by a double play as he pitched quickly out of trouble, then surrendered only a two-out single in the ninth to wrap up his fourth save.

Expos Top Reds By 6-3 Count

MONTREAL (AP) — Ron Woods' two-run, two-out single capped a four-run rally in the sixth inning that helped the Montreal Expos to a 6-3 National League baseball victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday night.

With the Expos trailing Jack Billingham and the Reds 3-0, Bob Bailey triggered the rally with a leadoff double and a walk to Boots Day and Ron Hunt's bloop single loaded the bases.

One run scored when Tim Foli was hit by a pitch and the second crossed on Mike Jorgensen's groundout. After an intentional walk to Ron Fairly, relief pitcher, Pedro Borbon fanned Ken Singleton for the second out but Woods lined a single to left-center.

With Clay Carroll pitching in the eighth, Foli got an infield hit and Fairly homered.

The Reds scored all their runs off Mike Torrez in the first inning on a walk to Joe Morgan, a stolen base, Johnny Bench's single and Bobby Tolman's two-run homer.

Fishermen Should Cooperate

Lake Sangchris Creel Census

SPRINGFIELD — Fishermen on Lake Sangchris, a 2,700-acre power plant cooling lake 15 miles southeast of Springfield, are co-operating in a creel census designed to determine angler success.

A creel clerk is contacting fishermen on a daily basis to obtain data on numbers and sizes of fish caught, types of lures and other information pertinent to fishery management. The data-gathering will continue through March, 1974.

Lake Sangchris is rapidly becoming well known for its excellent largemouth bass fishing.

Crappie, white bass and channel catfish are also among frequent catches. There are camping and boat launching facilities at the lake, which is managed by the Department of Conservation under leasing agreements with Commonwealth-Edison Co.

Jeff Little caught this stringer of Bluegills at Roodhouse Community Park. His 9 1/2" Bluegill won in Mac's Sporting Goods fishing contest.

New 'No Wake' Areas Posted At Lake

By JIM HALL
Outdoor Writer

Carl Bourn, chairman of the Lake Committee, has informed this writer that the no wake area bouy markers have arrived at the lake. These bouy markers were obtained through the Illinois Department of Conservation. The Department of Conservation has been giving

Carl and the Save the Lake Committee their full cooperation where Lake Jacksonville is concerned. Carl said that work on putting the bouy markers into position will begin this Sunday.

Lake Jacksonville is bank full and water from the lake is running over the spillway. There will no doubt be more ski boats on the lake this summer due to the conditions at the river. Due to the high water at the lake, it is very important that all boaters pay strict attention to the no wake areas, and the 25 mile per hour zone.

John Dawson, president of the Save the Lake Committee, has called another work day for Saturday, May 12. Volunteers are needed to help collect rock that will be used to rip rap the eroding shorelines at Lake Jacksonville. According to John, the Jacksonville Jaycees have volunteered several workers for this project. More volunteers are still needed, and those that wish to help should meet at the City Garage on West Oak by 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning, May 12.

Utility poles are being donated to the Save the Lake Committee by the Jacksonville Power Department. These poles will be used to block wave action into the coves at the lake.

Progress is being made at Lake Jacksonville. Bourn and the Save the Lake Committee are doing a good job. Everyone concerned with this project deserves a big thank you.

Take A Boy Fishing

Catching Bluegills Is Simple And Easy

Despite the fact that just about anyone with any type of fishing gear can catch bluegills, the size of those caught separates the men from the boys.

Bluegills can be taken on most any bait, as long as it is small enough and looks edible. And they aren't especially particular as to whether the fisherman is using ultra-light tackle, a heavy-duty bait casting outfit or a cane pole.

However, some fishermen keep catching stringers of small bluegills and keep wondering why the other guy is catching all the big ones.

Although bluegills may not be as much of a prize to some as the largemouth bass, taking a good-sized bluegill can be challenging.

What many fishermen don't realize is if they are out for the better than average bluegill, now is the time of year for it. The bigger bluegills are more active in the spring.

When Illinois waters warm to 60 and 70 degrees, it is ideal for the larger bluegills. And the shore fisherman has as good a chance as anyone to catch them.

During the spring, the larger bluegills seem to prefer depths of about three to six feet and fishing is usually best the first few hours after sunrise and the first few before sunset.

Although the larger bluegills take just about any type of small bait, both natural and artificial, some have proven consistent producers.

The live bait fishermen usually has the best luck on the larger bluegills using just worms. The spin-caster should use a light line so he can effectively work tiny spinners no bigger than 1/4 ounce.

Yellow-bodied spinners, or spinners using a yellow combination color, such as yellow-black, are most effective when retrieved very slowly just off the bottom.

Pets Must Be Leashed

SPRINGFIELD — Pets and other domestic animals must be kept on leashes while on Department of Conservation properties, according to Anthony T. Dean, director of the Department.

"There are two exceptions to this state regulation," Director Dean pointed out. "Untethered dogs will be allowed in game management areas when hunting and while field trials are being conducted, and horses are allowed in bridle trail areas."

Violation of the leashing regulation can result in a fine of $25 to $100. In addition, the animals will be impounded and must be redeemed at the owner's expense.

Last week I traveled through Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, and Southern Illinois with a long-time salesman friend. My old friend and fishing buddy Dan Waylander came through Jacksonville and talked me into going on a fishing trip to Bull Shoals Lake in Arkansas. Dan is a road salesman with Oxford Industries out of Atlanta, Georgia, and travels a three-state area. Dan gets around and always manages to locate good fishing holes in the areas he travels.

our area bass fishermen drive down there to catch lunker bass. At the present time Stockton Lake is 18' above the conservation pool with water backed over camp areas, lake access roads and farmland. Engineers place the amount of water in the lake at more than a 50-year anticipated high level, or more water than would be expected to accumulate at any one time in 50 years. Corps officials in Kansas City say the lake presently has stored 1,435,370 acre feet of water behind the dam.

On this trip we found high water and flood conditions in every area we traveled. Stockton Lake in Missouri is a popular fishing lake, and many of

At the normal or multi-purpose level it holds 887,109 acre feet of water. Fishermen have been launching boats from the high roads leading to normal ramps.

The highlight of our trip was our stay at the L. B. Cook Theodosia Marina-Resort at Theodosia, Missouri. L. B. Cook and his son Bill own and operate the Marina on the little north fork arm of Bull Shoals Lake. This particular marina was highly recommended to me by Ray Heady, the well-known Outdoor Editor at the famous Kansas City Star Newspaper. Thinking back now, I am very happy Ray recommended the Theodosia Marina-Resort to me.

I have been to a lot of places, but have never been treated more warmly and felt more welcome than I did at the L. B. Cook Marina. L. B. and his son Bill have created the perfect place for families to enjoy an economical fun-filled vacation. Each member of the family will find a variety of activities here, and the peace and solitude of this beautiful outdoor setting, is a sure cure for the nerves and tensions caused by the fast pace of today's living. Expert fishing guide service is available. Jim Fudolia, originally from Litchfield, Ill., headquarters at the marina. The scenic beauty of this area is breathtaking, and there are not enough words to describe my stay at L.B.'s Marina-Resort. I highly recommend this particular place to anyone who is thinking about spending a relaxing vacation in the beautiful Ozarks. You can write for up-to-date information on Bull Shoals Lake at the L. B. Cook Theodosia Marina-Resort, Theodosia, Missouri 65761.

At Lakeview, Arkansas, on Bull Shoals Lake, we visited with Steve Monte, Pro Bass Guide, who runs the Fishermen's Center and marina. Steve told us that Bull Shoals is presently 30 feet above normal conservation pool, but bass are still being caught on spinner baits. According to Steve, Bull Shoals is a spinner bait lake with the surface buzzing Brush Rat tandem spinner producing best results. Steve thinks the lake should be in good condition again by the latter part of May. Smallmouth bass, Kentucky bass, and rainbow trout fishing are rated excellent. Crappie and brim fishing are rated fair. Steve said topwater fishing should be good and recommended the Devil's Horse

Bill and L. B. Cook at Theodosia, Mo.

If you are thinking about a vacation close to home, consider the Ozarks. Bull Shoals Lake

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For the past decade American business has been urged from many directions, including from within, to be more aggressive in stating its position on national matters, especially in countering almost constant criticism.

It is debatable whether the challenge has been accepted. Every so often an irate corporate chairman explodes against what he considers an unjust criticism. But a persistent pattern seems not to have evolved.

Asked why he failed to respond to what he considered unjust and politically motivated attacks on his industry, the head of a multimillion-dollar insurance company replied in frustration:

"We aren't able to play that game. We don't know how to."

Judging by some evidence, however, you would never believe that business wasn't stating its case clearly, or participating as a responsible member of the community or involving itself in matters where its skills could be used for the general good.

Annual reports, speeches and ghost-written articles all proclaim that the corporate citizen is effectively communicating its acceptance of an enlarged social role in life.

One of the most recent speeches was presented May 1 to a university alumni group here by James J. Needham, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, which seeks a dominant role in the forthcoming central market place.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the New York Stock Exchange, as the securities industry's principal spokesman, must involve itself in economic issues of national importance."

He noted that "government has never been bashful about giving us suggestions for change and improvement," and he added, "I have made it clear that we regard this as a two-way street."

"The exchange will state its views when major matters involving the economic well-being of this country are at stake — because any weakening of our economic position is bound to adversely affect every individual American."

The finished speech was in the hands of newsmen Monday, the day before delivery. That same day Needham was asked, as were many other business leaders, for a comment on the impact of the continuing Watergate affair on business and the economy.

Through a spokesman, he declined comment. So did the American Stock Exchange, whose prices also are severely depressed and its members financially pressed, conceivably to some degree because of Watergate.

So did the economist for the National Association of Manufacturers, because it was "a political matter."

Farmers Panicky About Fuel Crisis

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — The Illinois Agriculture Department said Thursday farmers throughout the state are panicky because they don't have enough fuel to plant their spring crops.

"It's bad all over the state," said Don Handy, head of the department's special projects section. "It's spotty, but it's bad. It's a very serious problem in Illinois and we don't know how to solve it."

Hardy said there are 22.4 million acres of land to be planted in the state this season and farmers will need an estimated 287 million gallons of gasoline and 163 million gallons of diesel fuel for their planting equipment.

He said in the next 45 days alone—prime planting time—167 million gallons of fuel will be needed.

The department has set up a "fuel crisis line," Handy said, through which farmers may obtain information on possible fuel sources. He said 25 to 30 farmers are calling in each day.

SOYBEANS FUTURES DOWN SHARPLY
CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures prices were down sharply on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

Grain prices also were lower, but showed much greater stability than did beans.

July soybeans, which had soared the limit on the past seven successive trading days, dropped more than 9 cents on the opening.

Minutes later, however, July beans bounced back about equal with Thursday's close, but then prices slipped again by a couple of cents.

Most bean contracts were off several cents from Thursday's close.

Soybean oil appeared to react to a government announcement that there were greater stocks of vegetable oils on hand than had been thought.

The nearby oil contracts were down by about 30 points in early trading while the distant futures tended to remain strong.

Trading in soybean meal drove prices up somewhat for deliveries in July, August and September but other options were lower.

Wheat futures were down about a cent, possibly on the news from Europe that most of the continent was expecting a fine wheat crop for 1973-74.

Corn also was about a cent lower. The weather throughout the Midwest was mostly dry, tending to create better conditions for field work.

However more rain was forecast for some sections over the weekend.

Prices for iced broilers were higher.

After about an hour, wheat was 1/4 to 1 1/4 cents a bushel lower, May 2.39 1/4; corn was 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower, May 1.75 1/4; oats were unchanged to 1/2 lower, May (new) 89 cents and soybeans were 1/4 to 5 cents a bushel lower, May 7.70.

"We have a list of all the major companies and tank suppliers and we give them a list of distributors in their area," he said. "Some of the major suppliers are supplying fuel on an emergency basis because the crops have to be planted."

Hardy said one Cumberland County farm wife told him she and her husband had only 300 gallons of gas left to plant 1,100 acres. About 20 gallons of fuel are needed to plant one acre.

"She said they were notified Wednesday by their distributor that they would receive no more fuel. They contacted every distributor in their area, and no one was willing to give them a drop," Handy said.

"They had borrowed money on their farm, the floods hit them, and then the gasoline dealer tells them they can't have any fuel."

"The wife said it was the first time she had ever seen her husband cry."

Hardy said a fuel inventory taken recently showed there are 920 million gallons of gasoline less available than there were a year ago.

Gov. Daniel Walker met Thursday in Chicago with representatives from several of the major oil companies to see what can be done about the shortage in Illinois, both for the farmers and the small independent gasoline stations which cannot obtain adequate gas supplies.

GRANT TO BE MADE FOR RESEARCH ON ACUPUNCTURE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government has decided to make its first grant for research on acupuncture, the ancient Chinese method of medical treatment with needles.

An official of the National Institutes of Health told UPI Thursday a one-year grant of about $50,000, renewable on an annual basis for three years, will go to the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry in St. Louis, part of the University of Missouri system.

The award is to be announced within about 10 days.

The research project will seek information on the pain-killing effectiveness of acupuncture compared with standard drugs like morphine.

It will try to learn whether the "novelty" of acupuncture in the minds of patients has anything to do with its working.

A number of acupuncture centers have opened during the past year in this country. Medical groups have regarded increased U.S. interest in the ancient Chinese art with caution.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices finished strongly higher Friday as some analysts saw indications that the market had bottomed out and there would be a continued rally in the near term.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 8.20 at 953.87. It was the third day in a row the Dow industrials had finished strongly on the plus side.

Advancing stocks beat out declines 2 to 1 in an active 19.51-million-share volume, the highest since the Feb. 13 volume of 25.32 million, during the dollar devaluation crisis.

The analysts said they were optimistic because the rally continued Friday, despite news that in the recent past would have sent the market into a nose dive. Several banks, led by First National City, announced they had raised their prime rates, the interest they charge their most credit worthy large customers, to 7 per cent from 6 1/2 per cent.

In other economic news Friday, the government announced that the April unemployment rate was an encouraging 5 per cent, unchanged from March.

The NYSE index of some 1,500 common shares was up .42 at 58.77. The American Stock Exchange price-change index closed up .08 at 23.67.

The Big Board volume leader was Levitz Furniture down 4 1/2 at 8 1/2. It announced per share first-quarter earnings of 14 cents, the same as last year's first quarter.

Cass Art Show Brings Out Best Of County Art

BEARDSTOWN — On a per capita basis Beardstown has about as many talented painters as any town around.

Evidence of this comes lately from the results of the fourth annual Cass County Town and Country Art Show held in Virginia where 31 blue ribbon winners won the right to show their work in the upcoming regional show to be held May 18, 19 and 20 at the Warren County Extension Office in Monmouth.

Mark Schroll, 17-year-old Beardstown High School senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schroll, 1004 Washington street, topped four blue ribbons in the Cass show and will be showing at the regional and probably at the state exhibit.

In taking a record breaking four blue ribbons Mark outtrunked his dad, who has been winning for years, and who is one of the prime movers in the promotion of the art. A younger son, Chris, has also shown outstanding talent but did not enter the show this year.

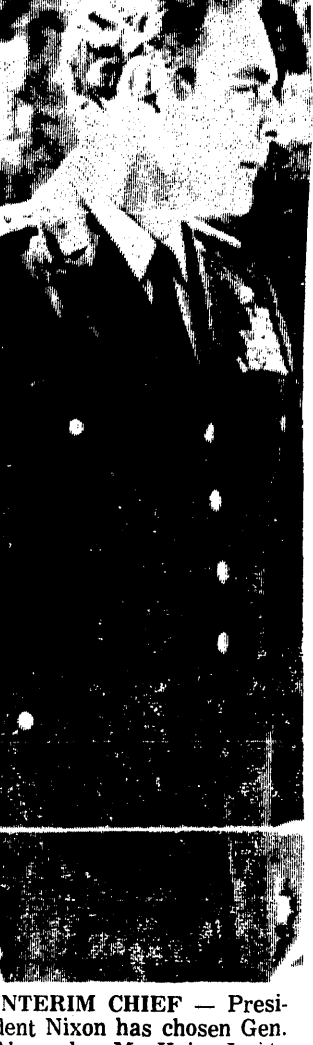

Ribbon Winners
Thirty-one blue ribbons were awarded in the Virginia show to the following persons: Joelyn M. Calder, Lori A. Fox, John A. Schoonover, Donnie D. Siltman, Sarah L. Snow, Jeff Soer, all in the class for persons 12 years of age or under.

Linda M. Bateman, James L. Fisher (2), Debbie L. Ryman (2), Mark R. Schroll (4) for ages 13 to 18.

Mary L. Arenz, Linda Clement, Ivy F. Collisson, Shirley Gross (3), June Houston (2), Dorothy Jamison, Alma J. Reid, Jack R. Schroll, Earl C. Stevens, Myrtle Wildt, and Alan K. Yonk, in the adult division.

Young Schroll's four blue ribbons were all for paintings: two oils and two watercolors. The four blue ribbons won by Debbie Ryman included one oil work and work in plaster, jewelry and ceramics.

Schroll sold one of his paintings for what was said to be a record price for the exhibit.

INTERIM CHIEF — President Nixon has chosen Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. to be interim chief of White House staff, it was learned Friday. UNISEX APPROACH?
JACKSON, Mich. (UPI) — The sign on the bathroom at the Moonlight Chalet here just says "Yours."

Hank Lewis, the owner of the restaurant bar, is tearing down the "His" and "Hers" signs in favor of a more unisex approach.

Lewis said Tuesday he was building two restrooms in the upstairs of his bar, but after the completion of one, both sexes started to use it.

"Nobody seemed to mind," he said "so we decided to take down the 'His' and 'Hers' signs and put up one sign that says 'Yours.' We don't anticipate any problems."

Nursing School

Honor Given

Sharon Flynn

At the annual "Moving Up Day" exercises May 2nd of the School of Nursing of Methodist Hospital in Peoria, it was announced that Miss Sharon Flynn, daughter of Mrs. Jeanette Flynn of 760 W. Railroad, Jacksonville, had been selected as the school's "Student Nurse of the Year."

Sharon Flynn

The selection was made by the 185-member student body from a list submitted by the faculty. Students were nominated on the basis of scholarship, leadership, activities, and personality.

Miss Flynn is a junior nursing student with an interest in obstetrics. She is also considering a nursing career in the Air Force.

"Moving Up Day" is an annual promotional event for nursing students. On this day, freshmen receive a crimson sash for their nursing caps, symbolic of advancement to junior class status, while the juniors are presented a black sash for their caps representing promotion to the senior class.

Commencement exercises for graduating seniors will be held this year at the First United Methodist church of Peoria Saturday, May 19. The featured speaker will be Stuart Roberts, M.D., Peoria surgeon and former professor of surgery at the Medical School of Ohio State University.

Late Cubs Rally Gains 4-1 Count

By United Press International
The Chicago Cubs went into the ninth inning of their game with the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night trailing 1-0, but a two-run single by Don Kessinger highlighted a four-run rally that gave the Cubs the game 4-1.

The Dodgers' Andy Messersmith completely stymied the Cubs until the ninth when the North Siders opened with consecutive singles by Joe Pepitone, Ron Santo and Jose Cardenal. With the bases loaded, Jim Brewer replaced Messersmith for Los Angeles, only to walk pinch-hitter Jim Hickman to force in the tying run.

Then followed Kessinger's big single which scored pinch-runner Cleo James and Cardenal. The Cubs loaded the bases again when relief pitcher Dave LaRoche bunted safely, and Paul Popovich followed with a sacrifice fly to score Hickman. LaRoche got the win, making him 1-0 on the season. Messersmith, now 1-3, took the loss. Rick Reuschel started for the Cubs, and the only run he gave up in the seven innings he worked was unearned.

It came in the first inning when Dave Lopes led off with a walk, stole second and took third on catcher Ken Rudolph's throwing error.

Lopez scored on a sacrifice fly by Manny Mota. There were only two extra base hits in the entire game, both of those registered by Cub hitters. Rudolph doubled with two out in the second inning and Santo doubled with two out in the fourth. Santo's two hits again when relief pitcher Dave LaRoche bunted safely, and

Black Hawks Stave Off Montreal, 7-4

CHICAGO (AP) — Inspired by the return of their skating wounded, the Chicago Black Hawks shook off a desperate situation Thursday night and came off with a 7-4 victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The triumph cut Montreal's lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final series, but it wasn't easy despite the final score and the fact the Hawks had streaked to a 5-0 lead early in the second period.

Stan Mikita, who missed Tuesday's game in Montreal with a badly gashed finger, and defenseman Doug Jarrett, who had a cracked rib, both took goals by Dennis Hull and Jim Pappin in the final 30 seconds.

Knicks Square Playoff Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Play gets rougher in the even-up National Basketball Association playoffs now heading for New York with Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Lakers declaring, "It looks like we'll have to go back to pushing and shoving."

The Knicks, led by the 26-point shooting of Bill Bradley and a tougher defense, beat the Lakers 99-95 Thursday night to square the best-of-seven title series at one victory apiece.

On Tuesday night, the Lakers won 115-112.

"Our defense was much better than in the opening game," said Coach Red Holzman, whose Knicks next meet the Lakers in the more friendly confines of Madison Square Garden on Sunday afternoon.

Cardinals Slip By San Diego 3-1

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Padres have four hitters with averages near .300 or over in their starting line-up and are having trouble scoring runs.

The man who is paid $70,000 to drive them in isn't doing so as often as expected. It is a situation that has Nate Colbert fighting himself.

"I'm just all fouled up," the powerful first baseman said Thursday night after St. Louis made off with a 3-1 victory.

The Cardinals capitalized on errors for two of their runs off loser Bill Greif, 1-2, and the Padres squandered nine hits stranding seven runners in the last four innings.

Last year, on a team that batted only .227 and averaged three runs a game, Colbert had 38 homers and 111 runs-batted in. At the moment he has one homer, and 11 RBIs for a team that has averaged .248 in its first 25 games.

Colbert is averaging .266 but has struck out 28 times. "The main problem is that he's swinging at bad pitches," batting coach Bob Skinner said after the highest salaried Padre stranded four runners who were in scoring position.

If he were on his stick, Colbert would be driving in runs in bunches because the two hitters preceding him are getting on base.

Rookie centerfielder John Grubb had two singles Thursday night to lift his average to .322. Left fielder Leron Lee, had a single, double and triple to climb to .297.

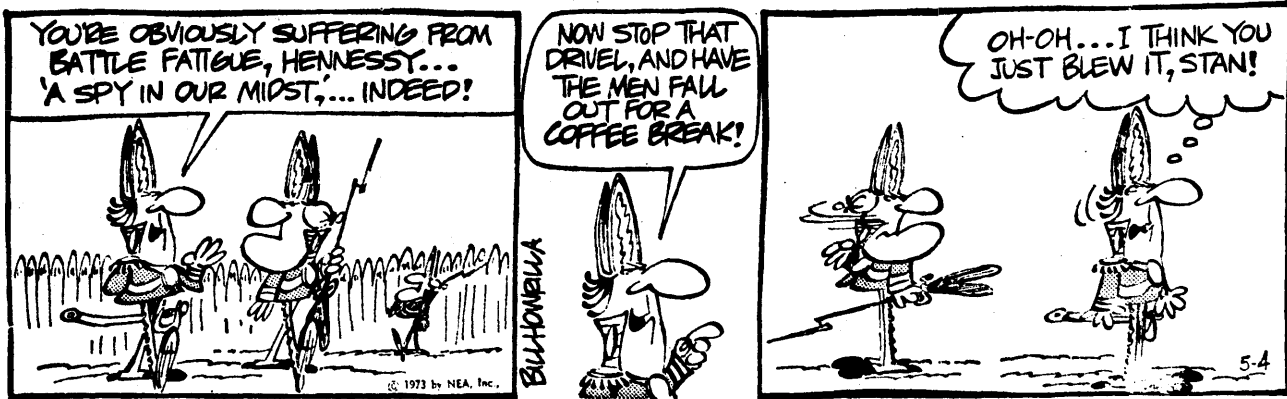

Leadoff batter Derrel Thomas isn't hitting for much of an average but he has been on base 27 times via hits or walks and has scored only five times. The other .300-area hitters for San Diego are Fred Kendall and Dave Campbell.

Job-Safety Rules Often Expensive And Petty

Editor's Note: The government has 550 inspectors to enforce its job-safety rules. The following, third in a series from The AP Special Assignment Team, examines that enforcement.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

In case you were wondering, Ralph Zuber's electrical outlets aren't orange. And the federal government won't make him paint them.

Nor will it force Zuber or any other employer to install split toilet seats or give up ice in drinking water.

Still, Congress remains in a mood to pull some teeth from the two-year-old job-safety act that supposedly was bothering Zuber and a lot of other small businessmen.

Zuber is manager of a 15-man custom furniture shop in Amana, Iowa. In a recent national news story, he and other small businessmen were quoted as being worried, perplexed and angry about the Occupational Safety and Health Act. OSHA, they felt, imposed regulations that were often expensive and petty.

Zuber reportedly said, "I want to comply, but I've got to make a living. Did you know we've even got to paint the electrical outlets orange? Why, I don't know."

Zuber now says he can't remember saying that. Anyway, there's no requirement that electrical sockets be painted orange, or any other color.

Furthermore, Zuber says, he supports the job-safety act, even though its costing him around $20,000 to do such things as replace ungrounded electric hand tools, install emergency cut-off switches on some power machinery and install guards on power saw blades.

"We needed something like this," he said. "But they have to use common sense. You can't do these things overnight."

Like most other small businessmen, Zuber never has had a visit from one of the Labor Department's 550 job-safety inspectors. With five million workplaces to inspect, chances are it would take them years to reach Zuber unless a fatal accident or employee safety complaint puts him on the inspection list.

Nevertheless, Congress is receiving howls from plenty of small businessmen who don't like OSHA. "It's just fear," says Herbert Liebenson, legislative vice president for the National Small Businessmen's Association. "They only hear the horror stories."

He says a poll of his members shows they are more worried about OSHA than anything else, even taxes.

Congress has the message. Last year it voted twice to exempt millions of small businessmen from the safety standards. But both times President Nixon vetoed the spending bill to which the exemption was attached as a rider. So virtually all employers still are covered.

This year few expect that Congress will approve an exemption again, but even OSHA's friends are willing to soften its bite on business somewhat. And the law's old critics are pressing for nothing less than an extensive de-fanging, including an end to most mandatory fines and a provision that would divert many inspectors to handling out advice instead of fines.

Not all the criticism of OSHA is undeserved. Officials concede they blundered when, in their initial rush to get safety standards written, they adopted outmoded rules calling for split toilet seats and banning ice in drinking water. These have been rescinded.

And businessmen aren't the only ones with complaints about OSHA. Labor unions complain there are too few men and too little money to properly enforce standards.

"Aside from underfunding, aside from lack of inspectors, its direction will always be 'Go easy on the employer,'" adds Anthony Mazzocchi of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

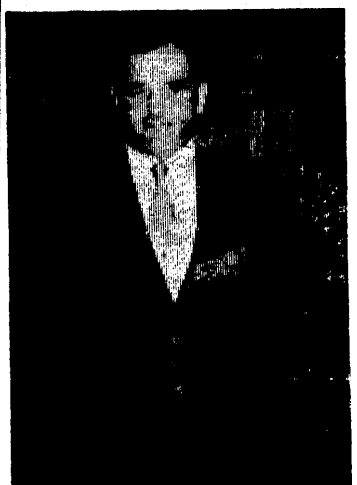

Of the 32,701 employers inspected last year, 29 per cent were found to have no violations, and the rest were assessed an average fine of $99. Employers contested only one fine in 20.

Meanwhile, OSHA tries to concentrate its scanty resources on the most troublesome problems. Last year it devoted 10 per cent of its time to investigating fatal accidents, 15 per cent to investigating safety complaints by workers and 38 per cent to particularly hazardous industries.

And in a year when the administration is trimming back many programs, OSHA plans to hire a few more people and increase its $68.7 million budget by another million. It plans to increase the number of inspections to 55,000 this year and 80,000 next.

Perhaps Ralph Zuber's shop will be among them.

At Nortonville

Harry Masters

NORTONVILLE — An evening revival will be held May 6-13 at the Harts Prairie Missionary Baptist church, two miles southeast of Nortonville. The pastor Harry Masters will be speaking at 7:30 p.m. each evening. The Harts Prairie church is associated with the American Baptist Association, a Christ centered, Bible teaching church. Services are held at the church each Sunday, with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. Worship, 10:30 a.m. BTC, 6:30 p.m. and evening worship, 7:30 p.m.

The word cookie stems from the Dutch word "koekje," meaning a small cake.

'Welfare For Rich' Decried By Findley

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 18,000 farm operators were paid $20,000 or more each in 1972 for curtailing or halting production of certain crops or for complying with Department of Agriculture conservation programs.

The total of the payments in excess of $20,000 each was $655.8 million last year.

The statistics were published in 93 pages of Friday's Congressional Record at the request of Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., who called them "nothing more than welfare for the wealthy."

Current law limits payments to $55,000 per crop, except sugar, for individual farms. Individuals or corporations operating more than one farm may receive the maximum for each farm and for each crop. The limit applies to cotton, wheat and feed grains. There is no ceiling on the sugar payments.

Three sugar companies received in excess of $1 million each. They were U.S. Sugar Corp., Hendry County, Fla., $1,284,845; Hawaiian Com. and Sugar Co., Hawaii, $1,350,060; and Waiakula Sugar Co., Inc., Hawaii, $1,118,395. Three other Hawaiian companies, Oahu Sugar Co., Ltd., Kohala Corp., and Lihue Plantation Co., Ltd., received more than $500,000 each.

In Texas, 5,195 payments in excess of $20,000 each totaled $171.9 million. Six of the payments exceeded $100,000 each. They went to Daniel D. McDaniel, Milam County, $113,764; Sonora Research, Sutton County, $123,134; J.C. Mills, Hale County, $117,826; John A. Wheeler, Cochran County, $111,339; J.K. Griffith, Cochran County, $106,658; and Curtis Griffith, Cochran County, $103,021.

California payments in excess of $20,000 went to 1,861 farmers for a total of $80.1 million. In Fresno County alone, 340 of the big payments totaled $16,478,777.

Other large payments were $70.9 million to 1,872 operators in Mississippi, and $39.7 million to 887 recipients in Arizona.

Findley is advocating a reduction to $20,000 in the maximum payment per farmer after this year, with more restrictions on who may receive the money.

Because of what he called the "loosely worded" limitation of $55,000 written into the three-year law expiring this year, Findley said the program has cost about $23.4 million more than if there had been no ceiling for the three years. He said there has been "widespread evasion" of the law.

The language in the limitation, he claimed, "was drafted by people who do not believe in payment limitation...but they wanted to be doubly sure the flow of money was unchecked."

A section of the bill added by the Senate and accepted in a compromise measure, Findley said, provided for a payment up to $10 million a year to Cotton, Inc., a research and promotion agency created by a 1966 law to promote cotton research and sales. The $10 million payment, Findley said, was to be made from savings expected to result from the $55,000 crop payment ceiling.

A $10 million payment was made to Cotton, Inc., in 1971, Findley said, but a subsequent study showed that savings from the 1971 crop payment limitation amounted to only $2.2 million. He said a second $10 million payment was made in 1972 and another will be made this year.

Despite big salaries paid to officials of Cotton, Inc., in "lavish headquarters in Manhattan," Findley added, domestic sales of cotton dropped last year to the lowest level since 1948.

Blanket Sunday, May 6 At Most Area Churches

Illinois Blanket Sunday will be observed in hundreds of churches in Illinois on May 6, according to Mrs. Edgar Franz, chairman for Church World Service committee of the Church Women United in Jacksonville. This date was designated by the Illinois CROP Committee, which administers the CWS Blanket and Clothing Appeals in the state.

Blankets may be taken to local churches where they will be packed by Church Women United representatives for delivery to the Collection Center in Grace Methodist Church Annex May 19 and 20. Good used blankets or quilts, or newly purchased blankets, are needed. In either case, each donor is asked to contribute 25 cents for processing costs.

Or, donors may contribute $3 to CWS representatives or church offices, with which Church World Service will purchase warm 80 percent wool, 20 percent synthetic gray blankets at wholesale prices. Five thousand blankets and $50,000 for blanket, layette and clothing purchases are being sought in this year's appeal. In 1972, gifts reached an all-time high, when an estimated 3,000 blankets and nearly $43,000 for purchases were given.

Clothing collection requests from CWS representatives overseas indicate a need this year for about 4,000,000 pounds of good used or new clothing, especially infants', children's and men's garments. Jacksonville area residents should take these contributions to their churches for packing before the collection dates mentioned above. Churches are asked to contribute 10 cents per pound of clothing for processing costs.

Two Cases Heard Friday

Two cases were heard before Judge John B. Wright Friday afternoon which resulted in a fine for one defendant and a second being bound over to the next session of the grand jury.

Marc O. Hoffman, 20, of New Baden, Ill., entered a plea of guilty to illegal consumption of liquor and was fined $25 and $15 costs.

Robert W. Bradburn, 19, of 1008 W. State was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of escape from the county jail April 21. Bond was continued at $10,000 and a second charge of burglary is still pending, both before the next session of the grand jury.

Bradburn was returned to the county jail.

Walker Pledges Quick Decision On Oakley Dam

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker said Friday he will have a decision next week on the state participation in the Oakley Dam project in Decatur.

Walker made the statement to a team of 11 runners from the University of Illinois Track Club who ran 65 miles from Alton Park Friday to his office in Springfield to present him with a petition listing 150,000 names opposed to the project.

Allerton Park is 25 miles east of Decatur and would be subject to flooding should the dam creating a new lake and a new source of water for Decatur industry be constructed.

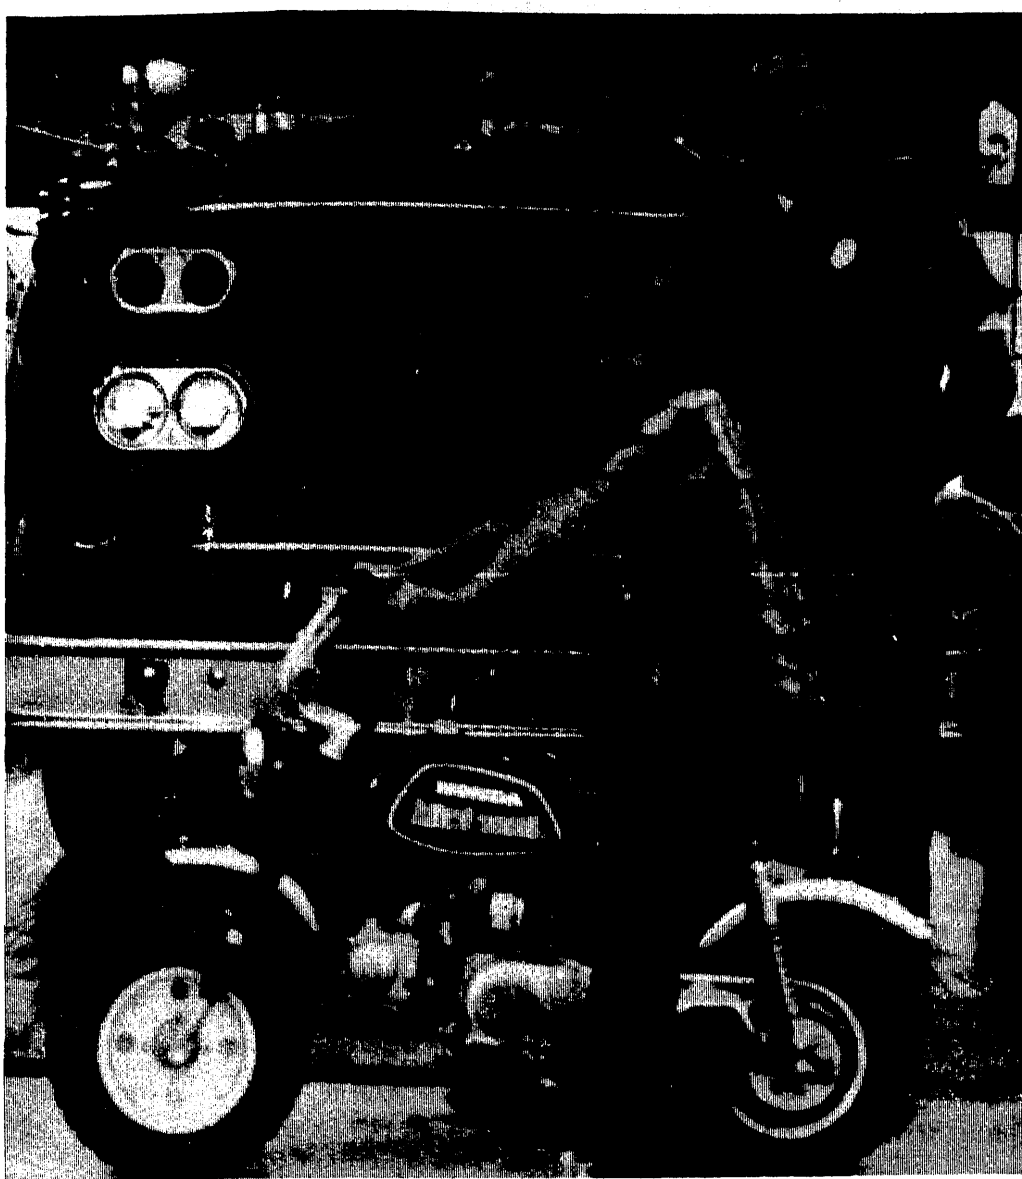

Walker met two weeks ago with representatives of labor unions and industry from Decatur who support the project.

"We support your drive to cut back on spending and to preserve the environment," a spokesman for the group told the governor.

Walker is making a decision on whether to commit the state's share of $18 million to the $81 million project.

Walker told the runners he realized "whatever way I go, there are a lot of people who will be unhappy with me." He said he was "not going to add those in favor of the project and those opposed to it" in making his decision, which he said he will be deliberating over the weekend.

The team of 11 runners ran in one-hour segments beginning at 7 a.m. Friday. They arrived at about 2 p.m. in Springfield. The runners ranged in age from 19 to 54.

CANDY SALE WINNER—Michael Hall of 661 S. Diamond St. tries on the new Honda Mini-Trail he won as top prize in the annual Firemen's Candy Sale. Hall sold 575 boxes of candy, the profits from which are used to finance the Fourth of July celebration. Lt. Ron Campbell looks on as Hall takes possession of his prize.

Busy Court Schedule Here Friday Morning

Judge John B. Wright presided over a busy court schedule Friday morning involving a number of defendants charged with a variety of offenses.

Milt Willingham, 42, of Rural Route 2, appeared without an attorney and asked for time in which to hire his own attorney. Judge Wright continued his charge of forgery to May 11 and continued bond in the amount of $10,000. He was returned to the county jail.

Larry J. W. White, 17, of Springfield, charged with two counts of burglary on April 19, received a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury on the offense.

Pate William Flowers, 20, of 204 W. Wolcott, also charged with two counts of burglary, had his case continued to May 11.

Curtis Greenwood, 63, of 717 E. Douglas appeared for a competency hearing to determine whether he should stand trial on a charge of contributing to the sexual delinquency of a minor. The court continued the hearing to May 11 after receiving the report of a Springfield psychiatrist into evidence.

Jo Ann Jackson, 18, of 941 Allen Avenue was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of forgery and returned to the Sangamon county jail on $5,000 bond. She was charged with forging a check at Jack's Discount last Dec. 9.

Woman Sentenced

Iesun Mabus, 38, of 617 West Morgan entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while her license was suspended and she was sentenced to serve six months at the Dwight reformatory for women.

Charles J. Wood, 25, of 1122 W. State entered a plea of guilty to illegal transportation of liquor and was fined $100 and $10 costs.

Walter Eugene Jett, 31, of 224 W. Beecher pleaded innocent to a charge of failure to yield at a stop intersection and asked that his case be set for jury trial.

Jackie L. McGlasson, 24, of 323 S. Diamond entered innocent pleas to driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless driving. He waived jury trial and the cases were set for bench trial on May 11.

Oscar Freese, III, 22, of Route 1 was found guilty on a charge of speeding following a bench trial and was fined $15 and $10 costs.

Billy R. Davis, 21, of 320 N. Pine entered a plea of guilty to resisting a peace officer and a plea of innocent on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Sentencing was continued to May 11 and he was released on $1,000 bond.

Edward Pence, 805 S. West entered a plea of innocent on a charge of theft and the public defender was appointed. His case was continued for trial.

William J. Hargrove, Jr., of Panama, Ala., did not appear on a charge of no reciprocity in connection with a truck and his bond of $25 was forfeited by the court.

MINOR INJURIES IN COLLISION

Three persons received minor injuries but did not require hospital treatment following a collision at the intersection of West College and Park Street at 2:08 p.m. Thursday.

A car driven by Cynthia J. Walker, 23, of 709 Freedman pulled into the path of a second auto driven by Diane E. Houser, 17, of 4 Barn Lane.

Mrs. Walker did not receive injury but a passenger, 17-month-old Stephanie Walker, suffered minor injuries.

Miss Houser and a passenger, Susan Lukeman, 18, of 225 Lockwood suffered minor injuries but did not require hospital treatment.

Mrs. Walker was ticketed by investigating city police for failure to yield the right of way.

Animal Shelter Discussion At PAL Saturday

Gordon Hale of Bloomington, Regional representative for the American Humane Association, will be a guest at the Saturday evening meeting, May 5th, of the Jacksonville area PAL (protection of animals league). This will be at 7 p.m. in the commissioners meeting room at the City Municipal building.

Mr. Hale will discuss with members and all persons interested who attend the plans for the proposed animal shelter in Jacksonville. Such a shelter has long been a purpose for PAL. Municipal support is necessary for this project, as well as community interest and aid. All persons interested in a sanitary and modern shelter for animals are urged to attend this meeting. Such a structure would protect both animals and people, under proper supervision.

CALHOUN COUNTY PROTESTS DIVERSION OF LAKE WATER

HARDIN, Ill. (AP) — Calhoun County commissioners have approved a resolution objecting to a proposed bill in Congress which would raise the amount of water diverted from Lake Michigan to the Illinois River.

The commissioners approved the resolution Thursday night. They said they feared additional diversion of lake water would in the future further aggravate springtime flood conditions which, this year, have caused heavy damage along the Illinois River.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago was among those testifying on behalf of the proposal recently. The bill, if passed, would increase the flow from 3,200 cubic feet per second to 10,000 cubic feet per second.

Peoria, also on the Illinois River, passed a similar resolution.

Friends may call Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday until noon at the Gill Memorial Home in Barry. The family suggests contributions to the United Methodist church Memorial Fund.

JHS "Bye, Bye Birdie" To Buy Choir Robes

There will be an all-school production of the Broadway musical, Bye, Bye Birdie, at Jacksonville High School Friday and Saturday evenings, May 11th and 12th.

Some of the funds to support production costs were raised in projects sponsored by the school's Mixed Chorus, Girls Glee club and the Concert Choir. Since extra curricular activities must be self-supporting students are also selling advertising to cover program printing costs.

Starring as Conrad Birdie is John Watson; the manager, Albert, will be portrayed by Mike Brandenburg and Albert's secretary, Rosie, will see Tina Hacker filling the role.

Lori Ross will have the part of Albert's domineering mother, Mae, and Mary Biggs plays Kim MacAfee, the recipient of Conrad's "one last kiss." Kim's parents are played by Nancy Simmonds and Bill Flynn; and Kim's brother, Randolph, is Guy Freeness; and her jealous boy friend, Hugo, is acted by Steve Patterson.

The production is directed by John Hayter, assisted by Cheryl Robertson, senior theatre major at MacMurray College, and Dennis Smith, assistant to the director.

Bill Atkins has designed the stage setting and props, which are being constructed by the JHS art department. Jay Wiegold is stage manager and Larry Patterson, sound technician, under supervision of Edwin Ahlquist.

A workshop in theatre make-up has been conducted by Miss Robertson and Steve Velsor, for students at JHS who will be preparing the various characters for their stage appearance.

Any profit realized from these performances will go to a fund to buy robes for the JHS Concert Choir.

Tickets are available now from cast members and at the High School office. They will also be sold at the door both evenings. There will be no reserved seats for either performance.

Grand Jury Indicts Ald. Thomas Keane

CHICAGO (AP) — Alderman Thomas E. Keane, Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful floor leader in the City Council, was indicted Friday by a Cook County (Chicago) grand jury on charges of official misconduct, conflict of interest and conspiracy.

Another alderman, Edwin P. Fifielski, was indicted on the same charges which grew out of each man's alleged interests in a bank where city funds were deposited.

Keane, 65, floor leader and chairman of several key committees, including the Finance Committee, has been a close aide to Daley in such matters as slating candidates and recommending political appointments.

Daley, Keane, nor Fifielski had any immediate comment. The indictment said Keane owned 375 "or more" shares of stock in Jefferson State Bank. Fifielski, the indictment said, held with his wife, 1,827 shares in the bank. The indictment also said Fifielski was a former director of the bank and chairman of the board.

By holding interests in the bank and voting for and approving the deposit of city funds in the bank, the indictment said, the two men violated state statutes on official misconduct and conflict of interest.

Each man could receive a maximum of three years in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count, said a spokesman for Bernard Carey, state's attorney, who secured the indictments.

The conflict of interest charges are misdemeanors. Keane is the latest of several

Mildred Bethard Of Barry Dies; Funeral Sunday

PITTSFIELD — Mrs. Mildred Bethard, 64, of Barry died 12:40 a.m. Friday at the Illinois hospital in Pittsfield.

She was a language teacher and a librarian in the Barry School District.

Born April 9, 1909 in Barry, she was a daughter of Scott and Lenora Doran McKee.

Mrs. Bethard was a member of the United Methodist church in Barry and the Evening Star Rebekah lodge 21 of Barry. She received a BA degree from the University of Illinois in 1931.

On June 1, 1936, in California, Mo., she married Oral Bethard. He survives, along with two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Lorenz of New York City, N.Y. and Mrs. Bernadine Silverstein of Chicago; and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Sunday at the Barry United Methodist church with the Rev. Clyde Snyder officiating assisted by the Rev. Robert Byler. Burial will be in Park Lawn cemetery.

Friends may call Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday until noon at the Gill Memorial Home in Barry. The family suggests contributions to the United Methodist church Memorial Fund.

Burlington Line Asks Rate Hike Of 10 Per Cent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Burlington Northern Railroad Friday asked the Illinois Commerce Commission to grant a rate increase of 10 percent on the line's commuter fares and eight percent on one-way tickets.

A spokesman for the railroad said the rate increase, if approved, would go into effect July 1, and would help offset an estimated $2.3 million deficit in the railroad's 1972 commuter operations.

The spokesman said the increase would generate an additional $641,000 in revenue the first year and would be used for operating purposes only. The railroad blames increased labor and material costs for the deficit.

More than 10 million commuters rode the Burlington last year, the spokesman said, reflecting an increase of 3.8 percent over 1971.

The fare increase per ride would range from four to nine cents for holders of monthly tickets, the spokesman added.

KRESKIN DISCUSSES the myths and realities of voodoo and other ritualistic practices with Dr. T. X. Barber, a recognized expert in the field, in this episode of "The Amazing World of Kreskin," to be colorcast 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8 on Channel 20.

The show is recorded in Ottawa, Canada, between night club and TV dates and a full schedule of college concert appearances. Kreskin does three shows per taping session; and, so far, he reports, the mental strain has been practically nil.

Kreskin says, "I've been in this mentalist business for 26 years, and I insist that at the taping they let me work the way I feel most comfortable. I insist that you see it like it happens. It's 'live' on tape, of course, but without any alterations. If a demonstration flops, it flops and you'll see that, too." Despite his preoccupation with matters that might be termed psychical, Kreskin prefers to describe himself as an entertainer.

JUNIOR MISS PAGEANT AIRS ON CBS MAY 11

The 16th annual "America's Junior Miss Pageant," in which 50 high-school seniors representing every state will vie for the title, will be broadcast as an hour-long special, live from the Municipal Auditorium in Mobile, Ala., Friday, May 11, (7-8 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network. Television personality Ed McMahon will host the final competition.

The broadcast, covering the final competition judging, will be climaxed by the crowning of the new titleholder by Lydia Anne Hodson, America's Junior Miss 1972.

During three nights of preliminary events, five judges will rate the 50 state winners in scholastic achievement, poise and appearance, youth fitness, and creative and performing arts. Each girl will also be interviewed by each judge.

The 10 semi-finalists selected will be judged during the broadcast, with the winner receiving a $10,000 scholarship award. Other scholarship awards include $6,000 to the first runner-up, $4,000 to the second runner-up, and $2,500 each to the third and fourth runners-up.

SALUTE TO ISRAEL — The ABC News religious-cultural series, "Directions," offers a salute to the state of Israel's 25th anniversary, noon to 1 p.m. Sunday, May 6, with an hour-long special, "The In-Gathering: Jacob Had Twelve Sons." Among the highlights of the program are David Ben-Gurion, Israel's first Prime Minister; a group of children at Nevatim, a settlement of Jews from India; popular singer Shuly Nathan, performing in front of the famed Western Wall in Jerusalem; and Commentator Edward P. Morgan with Joseph Ben Shani Zinati and his wife and grandson—the family is believed to be the oldest, living continuously, in Jerusalem, and traces its origins there back to 70 A.D.

"TONIGHT SHOW" TO

ORIGINATE IN NEW YORK

"The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" will originate from the NBC Television Network color studios in New York City for three weeks starting May 7. It will be the show's second return visit to New York since moving its home base to NBC's Burbank (Calif.) color studios May 1, 1972.

Host Johnny Carson, sidekick Ed McMahon and music director Doc Severinsen, as well as many staff members, will be in New York City. "Tonight" returns to Burbank the week of May 28.

"The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" is colorcast Mondays through Fridays 10:30-midnight on Channel 20.
